Reagan Vows To Press University Fee Drive

Regents' Act Held 'A Step'

DAVIS (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan today vowed to continue his fight for tuition at the University of California although he welcomed an $81-a-year increase in registration fees as a "small step" toward his goal.

The University's Board of Regents voted 17-6 yesterday to increase the basic fee charged California residents from $219 to $300 for the academic year that begins next September.

Reagan said the boost was no more than a token but he said he voted for it "because we've broken the barrier and taken a very small step."

The increase, if collected from all students at the nine-campus university, would produce $8 million in revenue. But $3 million of that will not be collected because the Regents voted not to impose the increased fee on

Truax Too Broke To Post His Bail

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Thomas Nelson Truax, a man of two identities and many talents, was without money for bail today after federal agents ended his career as a political manager.

Truax, 26, ABAG's assistant administrator, vanished Feb. 8, the same day the embezzlement was revealed and his alleged double identity of a quiet family man and a high-stakes gambler was made public.

Since March 6, the tall, good-looking San Jose State College graduate had been running the campaign of R. Bruce Jones Jr., a Republican candidate for public defender in North Palm Beach.

Jones could not be reached by telephone. But his father, a retired Army colonel, commented: "My son told me about the arrest this morning, and he was quite disturbed. Obviously, Truax won't be working for him anymore."

Truax surrendered quietly to police and FBI agents after a patrolman recognized him from a criminal wall poster. Police said Truax had been living in a modest hotel under the name of Bob Clark. He had only a few dollars with him, investigators reported.

The soft - spoken Truax was smiling and in good humor later Friday when arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Edgar G. Hamilton on a federal charge of cashing and using a $61,793 check intended for ABAG.

Hamilton set bond at $100,000 which the suspect was unable to post, and ordered him held for an extradition hearing next Friday. If he refuses to waive extradition, witnesses could be called from California for the hearing.

Auditors in Berkeley, where Truax lived unpretentiously with his wife Sherry, said the $510,000 was embezzled from ABAG over the course of a year. The money represents half the annual budget of ABAG, a regional government agency composed of 86 Bay Area cities and eight counties.

Truax is suspected of diverting the ABAG checks into an account under the alias of Troy Thompson. In Las Vegas, "Thompson" was known as a high-stakes gambler and lavish spender who occasionally tipped in mink coats.

King Killer Now 'Most Wanted'

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Escaped convict James Earl Ray was given an extraordinary emergency listing on the FBI's roster of 10 most wanted criminals today, intensifying the nationwide manhunt for the accused assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Ray, who masqueraded as Eric Starvo Galt at the time King was slain in Memphis, was placed on the list even though there are 10 fugitives already on it. This has happened but once before in the history of the 10 most wanted. (See photos, page 2.)

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover decided to add Ray as an 11th most wanted to insure the widest possible dissemination of the 40-year-old criminal's picture and description to the police and the public.

In addition, a special alert was set up in the Mexican border area in the event Ray tries to flee there. Mexican police officials also were said to be looking for Ray on an unofficial basis.

Special arrangements were made to show Ray's picture on the ABC show, "The FBI," tomorrow evening.

The only other criminal ever given emergency listing on the 10 most wanted roster was Richard Lawrence Marquette, who was sought for the butcher

State Officials Worried By New Welfare Decision

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state Social Welfare Department today pondered whether to appeal a federal court order which at least temporarily eliminates all residency requirements for California welfare recipients.

Top department officials began studying the ruling yesterday after it was issued by a three-judge federal court in San Francisco. They held an emergency meeting at which the possibility of appealing the action to the U.S. Supreme Court was discussed.

Social Welfare Director John C. Montgomery said it was too early to determine how many persons already in California and other states would now be eligible for aid and how much additional welfare funds would be needed.

The court ruled that residency requirements for Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), Aid to the Needy Disabled and Old Age Assistance raised "serious and substantial" constitutional questions.

The AFDC program requires a one-year residency in California while the disabled program requires three years. Under the Old Age Assistance, an applicant must have lived five of the past nine years in the state.

More than 1.2 million Californians presently receive grants under the three major categorical aid programs at an estimated cost of $1.3 billion a year.

The judges issued a preliminary injunction "pending further action of this court," which apparently depended on similar cases scheduled for argument before the U.S. Supreme Court Monday.

Rudolph Michaels, the department's chief attorney, said the ruling was "very quickly and sharply felt by all responsible agencies of state government to the highest levels."

"We don't know yet whether (its effect) will be light, heavy, medium or what," he said.

McCarthy Nods To TV Debate With Kennedy

FRESNO (UPI)—Sen. Eugene McCarthy has agreed to a television debate with Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in the California primary election campaign. (See related stories page 21)

A spokesman for the Minnesota Senator's campaign said yesterday McCarthy agreed to either May 23 or 30 for the live debate. An offer of free prime time for the debate was made by KGO-TV, San Francisco, and KABC-TV, Los Angeles.

Kennedy has not yet responded to the offer.

In a wire to the television stations, Martin Stone and Gerald Hill, McCarthy's campaign chairmen, said their candidate "feels such a debate will serve the public interest well."

They said McCarthy prefers May 23 but would arrange his schedule for a May 30 debate if necessary.

Town Smashed By Tornado; Toll Is 12

GREENWOOD, Ark. (UPI)— Rescue workers today searched the rubble of what had been downtown Greenwood for victims of a tornado that sliced a 400 foot swath through this tiny Ozark foothills community. The steps needed to declare the town a disaster area were put in motion.

The Arkansas State Police, which earlier had said there were at least 14 known dead, revised its figure down to 12. A United Press International check of funeral homes at dawn had turned up only 12 bodies.

An additional 20 persons were missing and at least 400 more were reported injured by the twister, which dropped on the community of 1,500 persons without warnings.

"The damage is much worse than what we had heard," said Lt. Gov. Maurice Britt, who toured the stricken town during

Mrs. Deedy, Wellman Quit

Two College of Marin trustees, including president Elizabeth M. Deedy, have resigned, it was learned this afternoon.

Trustee Theodore C. Wellman also resigned.

Both supported Dr. William K. Ramstad, college president-superintendent, who has been under fire from faculty and students for allegedly failing to involve the faculty in college planning.

Mrs. Deedy said progressive action is not possible with government by faculty and students, rather than administrative action. Wellman's resignation criticized the "reprehensible behavior of faculty and student leaders."

Second Victim Dies In Motel Bullet Fray

A 29-year-old Marin City man, who shot himself in the head in Tamalpais Valley moments after his common-law wife was slain nearby, died yesterday in Marin General Hospital.

Cautious sheriff's officers today, however, declined to say that the latest victim, Johnny Frank Johnson of 111 Drake Avenue, Marin City, fired the shots which killed Sharon K. Bradley, 21, of the same address.

Inspector Marco Melovich said no conclusions will be drawn in the Bradley death pending further interviews today with witnesses, and ballistics results of a .22 calier Colt Fronteir model revolver found near Johnson after he shot himself in the head following the assault on Miss Bradley.

He said the gun will be sent to the state Criminal Identification and Investigation Bureau for tests.

Johnson died on a Marin General Hospital operating table at 12:46 p.m. yesterday without regaining consciousness. Deputy County Coroner Keith Craig termed the death a suicide. Miss Bradley was dead on arrival at the hospital at 11 a.m.

Sheriff's officers said they went to the Fireside Motel, Shoreline Highway at Highway 101, about 10:45 a.m. after Miss Bradley reported she was being threatened by a man with a gun.

A crowd of about 500, including top bridge players from throughout the state, jammed the National Guard Armory in Santa Venetia.

Yesterday afternoon, Marin players nearly swept the field in the women's pairs championship, with Mrs. Wayne H. Omo and Patricia Zimmerman of San Rafael leading the way with a first overall.

Close behind came Mrs. L. A. Forbes and Mrs. Imelda Domeier of Novato with a second overall and first in their section.

The tournament continues at 8 p.m. today with the finals of the open pairs championship, and tomorrow, with masters pairs at 1 p.m. and team of four at 7 p.m.

Banks Boost Interest To Fight Inflation

NEW YORK (UPI)—Banks across the nation raised interest rates to a record high yesterday in an anti-inflation move expected to hit American consumers with higher price tags on houses, cars and other goods.

In the latest step in raising the cost of money came as leading banks raised their prime interest rates—the rate they charged their biggest and most trustworthy customers such as corporations—to a high of 6.5 per cent, an increase from 6 per cent.

The action came a day after the Federal Reserve Board increased its discount rate—the rate charged on money loaned to member banks—from 5 to 5.5 per cent.

PUBLIC TO BE HIT

The rise in the cost of money is expected to soon reach the general consumer, who will find it more expensive to buy a house, car and other goods.

In Washington, William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, urged Congress to pass a tax increase bill to further curb inflation. He said the United States is "in the midst of the worst financial crisis we've had since 1931"—the darkest days of the great depression.

Also in Washington, government economists estimated the cost of a mortgage loan would rise sharply above the current 6.76 to 7 per cent after yesterday's interest rate hike.

MARKET FALLS

The fears of a worsening credit squeeze sent the New York Stock Exchange tumbling. The Dow-Jones Industrial average skidded 11.56 points to close at 897.65, its biggest drop since last November when it fell 12.66 points.

Declines outnumbered advances 1,088 to 276 at 14.5 million shares traded hands. This brought the week's turnover to more than 74 million shares, second largest weekly volume in the history of the stock exchange.

By curbing spending with the increase of interest rates, the government hopes to bring down deficit spending—that of its own, corporate and individual—which economists say are in an inflationary spiral.

In addition, the government increase in its interest rate is expected to slow the flow of investment funds abroad in search of better return.

Port Chicago Suing Navy

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Residents of Port Chicago are asking that the Congressional order authorizing the Navy's purchase their community for $19.5 million be set aside.

In a petition filed yesterday in U.S. District Court, David Colchico and 42 others charged the Navy's plan was a "wasteful expenditure of the taxpayers' money."

They suggested the Navy move its ammunition loading facilities to a deep water point in an unpopulated area. They also sought a court order limiting the amount of explosives on the Port Chicago piers.

Mother Seeking Record For Live Burials

CHARLESTON, W. VA. (UPI) — With a television, radio, telephone and a supply of reading material to keep her occupied, a Charleston mother of three will be lowered into a grave here today to be buried alive for 75 days.

Mrs. Patricia Anne Haverland, 38, a divorcee, says the underground stunt will set a new world record. She plans to come up July 4.

She recognizes as the present Allen, buried at Ripley, W. Va., in 1963, although at least two other men claim shorter periods as the record, including an Irish bartender on his 59th day today near London.

U.S. Explorers Repeat Peary's North Pole Trek Across Floes

THE NORTH POLE (UPI) — Four tired members of a snowmobile expedition are sitting on top of the world.

The team arrived at the North Pole at 4 p.m. (EST) yesterday, completing the first overland journey since Adm. Robert S. Peary and four companions reached the pole in 1909.

"It's a beautiful, clear day. No wind, just a beautiful day in the Arctic," radioed Ralph Plaisted, a St. Paul, Minn., insurance man who headed the first overland trip ever by mechanized transportation.

"We're very tired," he said. "We had only four hours of sleep yesterday, but we're very happy to be here. We're very confident we're sitting on the point."

Also completing the seven-week snowmobile ride from Ward Hunt Island were Gerald R. Pitzl, an instructor at the University of Minnesota; Jean-Luc Bombardier of Montreal, the lone Canadian among the 10 men who started the trek, and Walter H. Pederson of St. Cloud, Minn.

Plaisted and his three companions were to remain camped at the pole until their twin-engine support plane could land to pick them up, probably today or tomorrow.

Bad flying weather yesterday kept two other explorers, Dr. Arthur C. Aufderheide, a St. Paul pathologist, and Donald Powellek, a St. Paul electronics engineer, from joining the four in the final run to the North Pole.

It was Plaisted's second attempt to ride to the top of the world. He led a similar expedition last year, but the group had to turn back more than 300 miles from the pole when warm weather broke up the ice.

Capsule Testers Report 'World Smells Wonderful'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Four college students who spent 60 days in a nearly odorless space capsule emerged yesterday and said the world smells wonderful.

"The first thing I noticed when we walked out was being hit by myriad smells and odors," said Guy H. King, 26, a music major at Long Beach State College.

"Girl's perfume, for example," chimed in Robert B. Zeuschner, 26, a philosophy student at UCLA.

The four youths were guinea pigs in a scientific experiment conducted by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in cooperation with McDonnell Douglas Aircraft Corp. The object was to find out if men could adjust to life in confined surroundings during a long voyage through space.

Although two of the men drank water reclaimed from human wastes during their two months in the capsule, they did not find it disagreeable.

One of King's first acts after leaving the capsule was to gulp down a glass of fresh water.

"The fresh water wasn't nearly as different as I thought it would be," he reported. "The recycled water didn't have any particular taste or odor, except it was flatter than regular water."

What really bothered the four was the noise of the air conditioner aboard their spaceship. Dennis Giroux, 28, a pre-medical student at Santa Monica City College said it was "something like living inside a vacuum cleaner." All agreed the noise made an otherwise pleasant experience tiresome, particularly toward the end.

The four were paid $4,320 each for their two month stint in the capsule.

They had no radio, television or newspapers, although they were told of important events like President Johnson's decision to retire and the killing of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

No Looter Shooting

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Francisco police will arrest — not shoot — looters, according to Mayor Joseph Alioto.

Asked for comment on the view of California GOP Senate hopeful Max Rafferty that looters be shot "when caught looting," the mayor disagreed sharply.

"There will be no shooting to kill or cripple or maim looters here," said Alioto. "Unless it is a matter of self-defense, our police will arrest looters and not shoot them."

"The extremist view taken by Dr. Rafferty is reprehensible, unconstitutional, a violation of our traditions and just bad police enforcement practice," Alioto added.

GOP Try Loses

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The leader of an uncommitted Republican presidential delegation was turned down by the California Supreme Court yesterday in his bid to place it on the June primary ballot.

Wilcox has contended that the state law requiring Republicans to collect about 5,000 more signatures than Democrats to qualify for the ballot was unconstitutional and discriminatory.

French Aid Arabs

CAIRO (UPI) —France plans to deliver jet fighters to Iraq but will refuse to deliver a paid-for shipment of jets to Israel, a Cairo newspaper said today.

The newspaper Al Gomhouria, quoting an unnamed French Foreign Ministry spokesman, said France hoped to deliver within the next nine months the first of 54 Mirage jet fighter-bombers ordered last March by Baghdad.

Jet Hits Houses

BAYPORT, N.Y. (UPI) — Air Force investigators today raked over the wreckage of an F4D Phantom jet fighter that crashed and exploded in this New York City suburb yesterday, setting six homes on fire.

The twin-engine jet crashed in an open area, but the impact sent an engine through the wall of one home and burning fuel ignited five others. Miraculously, no one on the ground was injured.

Both fliers aboard the plane parachuted to safety.

Wedding Hits Snag

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actor Tony Curtis may get married today, but it's not likely to be in California.

Looking askance at the Mexican divorce the actor obtained Tuesday from actress Christine Kaufmann, Superior Court Judge Lester Olson told the county clerk to cancel the marriage license issued Thursday to Curtis and Leslie Allen, a model from Newton, Mass.

The judge acted yesterday after Curtis, 41, and Miss Allen, 23, had announced plans to marry this afternoon in a private ceremony in the garden of Curtis' Los Angeles residence.

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI) — A blast jarred the plant of the newpaper O Estado today, injuring one man and causing heavy damage on the building's first floor.

needy students, generally those from families with annual incomes of less than $6,000.

Of the $5 million that will be collected, about $3 million was earmarked for grants-in-aid to help extremely needy students, especially those from minority races, attend the university.

Only $675,000 of the revenue will go to pay for student services now being financed by tax money. The rest was earmarked for improved student services, administration of the grants-in-aid program and additional student counseling.

In another hotly-debated action, the board refused to permit the use of the Greek Theater on the Berkeley campus for an anti-war "Vietnam Commencement" scheduled for May 17.

About 400 seniors were expected to declare their intention to refuse military service at the rally.

Reagan declared the proposal was "so indecent that it borders on the obscene." He said "it would lend comfort and aid to people who are killing fellow Americans."

The Regents' action on the fee increase ended a 13-month controversy. Reagan, shortly after his inauguration last year, proposed a $250-a-year increase in the cost of attending the university.

However, the fee increase was for one year only and the Regents will have to grapple with the problem against next year.

Meeting Planned By Antiracism Group Tomorrow

Marin County clergymen and other interested persons have been invited to a meeting of the newly formed People Against Racism at 2 p.m. tomorrow in Christ Episcopal Church, Sausalito, according to Bella H. Aaron, an attorney and temporary chairman.

Mrs. Aaron said that formal organization of the group will take place at the meeting.

One of the purposes of the organization, which was formed after the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., has been to establish a fund in his honor for the benefit of Marin City children.

Mrs. Aaron said that "the response from the public has been tremendous" to the fund. Many offers of money and personal services have been received, she said.

Mrs. Aaron said that one of the offers of service received was from Mrs. Murray Smith of Sausalito, a skilled rose gardener, who has proposed a Martin Luther King rose garden in Marin City.

Mrs. Smith said that she could teach Marin City youths the art of rose gardening, with their wages to be paid by the fund.

Hilarita Future To Be Discussed

The Tiburon City Council will conduct the second in a series of three hearings at 8 p.m. Monday in city hall on the future of the Hilarita Housing site.

The council is expected to consider a resolution to place some of the tenants who will be ousted by impending Hilarita demolition in leased housing.

Other matters on a heavy business schedule of the newly reorganized council are multiple dwelling rezoning of two parcels in the El Marinero subdivision, proposed use of land at Mar West and Tiburon Boulevard for a temporary real estate office and rezoning in the Taylor Tract-Paradise Drive area.

Eight Burglaries Total $700 Loot, Deputies Say

Eight burglaries, including the theft of jewelry and other items valued at a total of over $700, were reported today by sheriff's officers.

Charles W. Werlin, 349 Richardson Way, Tamalpais Valley, told officers that someone broke a side window of his home and entered Thursday.

Items including two rings, a necklace, a television set, a transistor radio, and a jewelry box were taken. Another occupant of the house, Jon A. Glaves, reported his television set was stolen.

Burglars also entered the home of Colleen J. O'Neill, Kappas Yacht Harbor, Gate 6, Marinship, officers said. Entry Thursday was via an unlocked front door. Loot included a candle holder, two albums of records, and three cartons of candles.

Lindsay G. Beckstrand, of 942 Bruno Street, Novato, told officers Thursday that someone forced a side door of the weekend residence of Randolph H. Dickens at 11 Kailua Way, Dillon Beach.

Nothing was believed taken. Dickens resides in Santa Rosa.

Beverly J. Grant, co-owner of the Lagunitas Country Store, Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, said a witness reported seeing a teenaged girl exit from the unlocked store — closed for repair — with a six-pack of beer Thursday.

Edward L. Kessel, 1971 Indian Valley Road, Novato, told officers someone entered his home and took $3 from a bedroom Thursday. No forced entry was evident, they said.

Douglas J. Briggs, 818 Rincon Way, Santa Venetia, said Thursday that burglars entered an unlocked side door of his home and made off with 12 cans of beer and $10, deputies said.

Burglars pried a window wing of a car owned by Susan C. Cowper, 19 Elm Avenue, Kentfield, making off with a $25 camera. The vehicle was parked at her home Wednesday.

C. C. Claeboe, 3 Dutch Valley Lane, Sleepy Hollow, reported Wednesday that someone entered his home via an unlocked garage door. Stolen were two women's coats with total value estimated at $200, deputies said.

The Rev. Lonnie Lasater, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Greenwood, watched the tornado from about half a mile away.

"It got very dark and it sounded as if hail was striking," he said. "Then all of a sudden the black, ugly cloud seemed to loom up out of a mountain in the southwest.

"It tiptoed across the tops of trees and then stomped on the center of town. It rolled cars and other vehicles around like toys. Men and women were underneath the rubble when I got into town."

A three-story building that once served as a courthouse was reduced to rubble. Part of the roof was ripped from a nearby elementary school.

Charles Emore, a student at Greenwood High School, was in a school bus parked in a shed when the tornado ripped the shed apart, picked up the bus and slammed it into another vehicle. He was not injured.

Dr. Charles Bailey, 47, treating patients at a rest home on the outskirts of town, said he "could feel the tornado come over the top of the rest home."

He looked out and saw a friend, grocer Paul Joyce, lying bleeding on the porch of his store. Joyce survived.

Theater Strike May Begin Today

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Theater and Amusement Janitors Union has threatened a strike at 8 p.m. today which would close most theaters in northern California.

The threat was made after a breakoff in negotiations. The janitors, who are paid $24 a day, seek an increase of $1.50 and improved fringe benefits.

Albert T. Goodwin, manager for the Blumenfeld Theaters in Marin County, said today the strike was not expected to involve any Marin theaters because the local workers are not affiliated with the San Francisco union.

Muir Woods Group Sets Annual Event

The weekend of Sept. 28-29 was set for the annual mountain fair by the Muir Woods Park Improvement Association at their monthly meeting last night, John R. Iacometti, association vice president, reported today.

The fair, featuring a circus theme, will be held on the association's clubhouse site at the end of Ridge Road, Iacometti said.

Quentin Artist Gives Paintings To Charity Sale

His works will be among more than 1,000 paintings and handicraft works from San Quentin to go on sale May 5 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Marin County Civic Center.

Kennedy has agreed to give all proceeds from his paintings to the center, although the other inmate artists will get a percentage of the price tags on their own items.

This is the first major sale of paintings and handicrafts by prisoners outside San Quentin walls.

Unlike the big annual San Quentin Art Show which accepts only cash for paintings, payment on May 5 can be by credit card as well.

Progress Report By Novato Board

School construction progress reports will be considered by the Novato Unified School District Board at 8 p.m. Monday in the administration building.

Supt. James G. Bunker will report on the progress of the San Marin High School, the Sinaloa Junior High School and the San Ramon Elementary School. The board also will discuss the purchase of the furniture for the three schools.

The board will also decide whether to stay in the Marin County schools' mentally retarded program.

Knife, Beating Charges Denied

George Anthony Hummel, 39, of Novato, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to misdemeanor charges of exhibiting a knife in a threatening manner and child beating.

Jury trial was scheduled for June 24.

Hummel was arrested April 10 after he allegedly threatened a sheriff's deputy with a kitchen knife and beat and dragged his 17-year-old stepdaughter around the house.

RAY

knife murder of a Portland, Ore., housewife in June, 1961. The day after Marquette was listed as an 11th 10 most wanted, he was arrested in California.

$100,000 REWARD

Even before Ray was identified as the mysterious Galt, there was an assured $100,000 in rewards for anyone providing information leading to the capture and conviction of King's slayer. The Memphis city council has voted to underwrite that amount.

Ray, identified through a painstaking check of FBI fingerprint files, had been sought by police as an escaped convict for nearly a year. He broke out of Missouri State Prison by hiding in a bread truck on April 23, 1967.

The wanted man had been serving a 20-year sentence for armed robbery and for a while was confined in the maximum security ward of the state hospital at Fulton.

A high school dropout who was kicked out of the Army, Ray has also served sentences in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., Illinois state prisons at Joliet and Pontiac, and in Los Angeles County jail. The FBI warned that he should be considered armed and extremely dangerous.

Known to his fellow prison inmates as a "loner," Ray reportedly was born either at Alton or Quincy, Ill. He dropped out of school in Ewing, Mo., in the ninth grade and his criminal record dates back to 1949.

Ray has a number of distinguishing features. His left ear protrudes noticeably and he has a habit of nervously pulling on his ear lobes. There is a small scar on the center of his forehead and another scar on his right palm.

The fugitive suspect is a fan of Western and country music. His drinking preferences are vodka and beer. He dresses neatly and is an avid dancer who has taken lessons. Early this year, Ray was graduated from a bartending school in Los Angeles.

He stands approximately 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighs between 163 to 174 pounds. He has blue eyes and brown hair which he frequently wear cropped short. In the past he has worked as a baker and laborer and has been known to claim past employment as a seaman and cook on Mississippi river vessels.

Ray is a man with many aliases. In addition to Galt, he has used such names as Harvey Lowmyer, John Willard, James McBride, James Walton, W. C. Herron and James O'Conner.

Telephone Cable Cutting Denied By CWA Strikers

SAN JOSE (AP)—A telephone cable was partly cut last night at Saratoga, and service to 1,500 customers was not restored until early today.

A spokesman for the Communication Workers of America, which started picketing Pacific Telephone facilities three days ago, said the union had nothing to do with the vandalism.

"Our people didn't do it," said A. B. "Monte" Montez, of Sunnyvale, CWA international representative. Three San Jose pickets, however, were arrested for parking lot scuffles.

CWA spokesmen likewise denied any connection with the smashing of telephone equipment yesterday in a Southern Pacific Railway storeroom in San Jose. This shut off tie-line service to San Francisco, Oakland and Watsonville for four hours.

Watchman Fires As Youth Flees Sausalito Office

A 21-year-old Marin City man was arrested by Sausalito police last night on suspicion of burglary after the watchman at A. G. Schoonmaker Company in Marinship fired four shots over the man's head as he was apparently fleeing the company president's office.

Sgt. Tom Zink said watchman John Turk, 65, of San Francisco noticed a forcibly opened door off a balcony into the office at 11:20 p.m. He telephoned for assistance and then waited for the burglar to come out.

Turk noticed a man running toward the fence and gave chase, firing the four shots over his head to stop him. The man, later identified as Freddie Louis Hunter, stopped and surrendered to Turk, just as police arrived, Zink said.

Police are trying to determine whether anything was taken from the plant, Zink said.

Hunter was booked into Marin County jail and bail was set at $6,250. He is scheduled to appear Monday in Marin Municipal Court.

SHOOTING

proached Miss Bradley, gun blasts were heard. She suffered a head wound and fell bleeding to the ground. The assailant shot from a concealed position behind a brick wall about 15 feet away, officers said.

Johnson then shot himself, according to the report. Officers said Johnson, employed by the County of Marin as a construction worker, had checked alone into the Fountain Motel about 250 feet from the Fireside Motel Thursday night and it was not known if Miss Bradley joined him. They were not seen together, they said.

Officers and Craig said Miss Bradley and Johnson had been living together, and had reportedly been having a domestic quarrel for the past two weeks. Cause of the argument was unknown. They had a daughter, Pamela, aged 4, according to the report, and Johnson has another daughter, Denella, 7.

Miss Bradley was born in Texas and had been in Marin County 18 years, Craig said. Johnson also was born in Texas. He had lived in Marin County 10 years. Both have parents in Texas, according to the report.

Services for each are pending at Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel, Mill Valley.

Clifford Thinks Hanoi Will Talk

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Defense Secretary Clark Clifford predicted today the North Vietnamese will ultimately agree to peace talks after trying to extract propaganda advantage in the preliminary jockeying over a site.

On his return from a NATO meeting in Europe, Clifford told newsmen: "I think we are experiencing the kind of jockeying that is to be expected in this type of negotiations."

In an allied development, the State Department denied reports there were basic differences between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and advisers at the White House over the tactics to be used in deciding on a site.

Bomb Tonnage Still Soaring

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. Command today reported the heaviest air attacks of the year, 160 missions, against North Vietnam's panhandle supply area. A rough accounting showed that more than 3,000 American flights had dropped as many as 18,000 tons of bombs on an area about the size of the State of Vermont since last Sunday.

Pilots returning from the 160 missions Friday involving about 500 F111A's, Thunderchiefs and Phantoms reported destroying or damaging at least 26 trucks, 26 supply boats, 10 railroad or highway bridges and 31 other Communist fortifications.

Saigon communiques today made no mention of significant fighting in South Vietnam, but the prospect of heavy combat was said to be highly probable in three different areas—the northernmost tier of provinces, the Central Highlands and the jungles just north of Saigon.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Find A Friend Who Doesn't Talk So Much About Picking Up Girls

DEAR HELEN:

I've started buddying around with this guy who is a year older than I am. All he talks about is picking up girls and getting what he wants, which is a lot.

I'm 14, and will have to admit girls scare me. Sometimes I don't mind him talking like that and other times I think he overdoes it. How can I tell him to shut up without ruining our friendship? He isn't just putting me on. I mean he's experienced! — LEE

DEAR LEE:

If this guy isn't putting you on, he'll soon be leading you on. Find a less experienced friend! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

You had quite an argument going about teachers reading notes aloud in class. How about this? I wrote a note to my girlfriend telling all about my feelings for my boyfriend. I gave it to her on the bus, she read it and put it in her book. In class next day, she dropped her book and the note fell out. The teacher grabbed it and read it out loud. It was terribly personal, and I wanted to die.

The note wasn't passed, or read by either of us in class. We told the teacher that, but he couldn't miss the big show: getting people to laugh at my shame.

Now really, isn't this invading our privacy? — INNOCENT VICTIM

DEAR VICTIM:

It certainly is!

But it also points out a lesson all teens should learn: say it, don't write it, and think twice before you say it, even. Too often you desperately wish you hadn't. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I was adopted when I was six months old. At 16, I know very little about my background, which worries me some.

A lawyer representing my real mother has asked that I be allowed to meet her for three days for certain reasons.

My parents said they have the legal but not the moral right to deny me this meeting. After much talk, we decided that I might go. My adopted mother will be with me. My real mother is paying for the trip. I am a bit scared, but I'm sure looking forward to finding out what kind of a person she is.

Certain adults are kind of getting to me. They say I should let the past stay buried, and that I'm being disloyal to my folks who have loved and cared for me. They say this meeting could change my feeling toward them or theirs toward me. They call it a blind date with fate, an open invitation to misery and unhappiness.

I'm still going to go, but do you think they are right? — C. R.

DEAR C:

I think if that your folks agree with you on this meeting with your mother, what other adults think should be ignored. Why shouldn't you satisfy normal curiosity about your background? — H.

Catholic Students Find Social Service Projects Are Fun, Too

By MARY LEYDECKER

This is the description senior Gay Melvin gives of the service program undertaken by Marin Catholic High School students this year.

The brainchild of student body President Tom Thompson of Terra Linda, the all-school program bears the imposing title of the Marin Catholic Community Social Service Program.

VARIED ACTIVITIES

In the first year of its existence, the MCCSSP has channeled students into many community service projects, such as outings for retarded children, painting offices for senior citizens and cleaning up the Volunteer Bureau office.

After Tom conceived the idea of directing the "openness and enthusiasm" of young people into community service, he went to Rev. John J. O'Connor of the Catholic Social Service.

Father O'Connor guided Tom to Mrs. Marion Kelley, director of the Marin County Volunteer Bureau, who told Tom that that there are many projects in which high school students could participate.

The operation of the MCCSSP has been quite simple, Tom says. Mrs. Kelley calls him or Terry Monardo, vice president of the student body, when she needs volunteers.

Depending on what the project is, Tom, Terry and other student officers including Gay, who is secretary, either enlist the aid of other youngsters or turn the whole activity over to one of the school's clubs.

The first activity of the MCCSSP was undertaken by the Pep Club, which invited 30 retarded children from the Cedars Development Foundation of Marin to a football game.

"It was such a thrill for the children to go to the game — especially since it was at night," one of the officials at the foundation wrote to the high school students after the occasion.

The Cedars children have become special friends of many Marin Catholic students since the football game, and the retarded children have been given parties and taken on other outings by MCCSSP members.

WANT ATTENTION

"They seem to want so much love and attention that we all enjoy doing things for the Cedars children," Gay said.

Painting and cleaning up offices may not be quite so rewarding, she said, "but we do have a lot of fun doing this kind of project, too." The Senior Citizens Coordinating Council building, the Easter Seal office and the Volunteer Bureau in San Rafael have all been spruced up by MCCSSP volunteers.

One of the clubs at Marin Catholic, Sodality, a religious group for girls, has been guided into "adopting" a cottage at Sonoma State Hospital.

Patients in the cottage are retarded women, Gay said, explaining that skits and musical entertainment appropriate for children are entertaining to these patients, too. "It seems sadder than working with the children," she said.

ENTERTAINMENT IDEA

Newest project for the students is planning entertainment once a week for the Greenbrae Convalescent Home, where Tom foresees that many of the school's guitarists and other musically talented students will be asked to perform.

In addition to the many services which the MCCSSP has given to the community, Tom cites another benefit of the program. "It's been very unifying for Marin Catholic High School, too," he said.

Lumber Firm Offers Park Site For U.S. Land Swap

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Arcata Redwood Co. offered Thursday to make available for park purposes 4,377 acres of old and new growth redwood land east of U.S. 101 in the Prairie Creek and Skunk Cabbage Creek areas.

The offer was made at a hearing of House subcommittee on national parks and recreation. Sixteen members of the committee met earlier this week in Crescent City and spent Wednesday touring the general area where the Senate has approved a 64,000-acre park.

The Senate bill proposes taking at least 12,503 acres from Arcata Redwood.

The land offered by Arcata was said to be worth $15 million. The company asked the government to give it other land in exchange.

Supporters of the Senate-approved bill estimated the cost of the park could be held to $100 million if Congress approves a proposal to give 14,567 acres of Forest Service land to affected redwood companies in exchange for about 27,000 acres they would give up toward creation of the park.

Car Stolen

A 1956 green Volkswagen sunroof model, license VDP 663, was stolen in downtown Sausalito Thursday night, Sausalito police reported today. The car is registered to C. D. Peterson of South Pasadena.

Modern Home Architecture Show Slated

An exhibit called "The 20th Century House" will be a highlight of a spring arts festival April 28 from 1 to 5 p.m. on the campus of San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

The exhibit will feature examples of home architecture of this century and will be displayed in Alexander Hall.

Sponsored by the women of the seminary, the festival will include a sidewalk art show on the terrace of Geneva Hall and a Cedars Foundation exhibit on the stairs leading to Geneva Hall.

The program also includes talks by Dorothy Farber, interior designer; John Lewis, Marin sculptor; and slides of Iran, shown by Donley Smith, former Peace Corps worker and now a seminary student.

Marin Trumpeter To Be Soloist

Trumpet player Bert Truax, 13, will be the featured soloist on April 30 in the first of two youth concerts to be presented by the San Francisco Symphony orchestra at Chabot College in Hayward.

Bert will play an arrangement of the "Carnival of Venice" with the orchestra under the direction on conductor-commentator Verne Sellin.

An eighth-grader at Red Hill Intermediate School, Bert has studied trumpet for six years and for the past three years has been principal trumpet with the Marin Youth Orchestra. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Truax of San Anselmo.

Shakespeare Program Slated For Tomorrow

A program commemorating the 404th birthday of William Shakespeare will be presented by the Marin Shakepeare Festival company at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the San Rafael library, not Tuesday as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Also on the program will be Margaret Albanese, who will read her poem, "Fortune My Foe."

Boy Attempts Bomb Hoax At St. Vincent's

Someone with the voice of a young boy telephoned St. Vincent's School for Boys in Marinwood Wednesday night and spoke the words: "bomb, fire," sheriff's seputies said yesterday.

Deputies searched, but found no bomb. The building was not evacuated during the brief scare, they said.

LSD Retrial Off For Novatan, 22

Toni Novak, 22, of San Francisco, convicted of possessing marijuana and LSD Oct. 22, won a little relief in Marin Superior Court yesterday.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson granted her motion for a new trial on the misdemeanor LSD charge, then dismissed the charge for lack of sufficient evidence.

He told her to return to court May 24 for sentencing on the marijuana charge.

Private Holdings Nettle Park Men

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Park Service is taking an increasingly dim view of private property holdings inside national parks.

Park Service Director George B. Hartzog Jr. says the buildings and facilities are in many instances around prime scenic attractions and along access routes, spoil the scenery, have a bad impact on visitors, and are creating growing administrative problems for park authorities.

In recent testimony before the House Appropriations subcommittee on Interior Department spending, Hartzog cited the Wawona Village area of Yosemite National Park as a horrible example. The transcript of the closed-door hearing was made public Thursday.

PRIVATE SQUARE MILE

Wawona is on a 640-acre, privately-owned tract dating from Homestead Act entry in the 1890s. It grew up, like topsy, Hartzog said, without zoning or organized planning, and has had explosive growth during the past three years.

It is, he said, a hodgepodge of rental cabins, dilapidated cottages and expensive new homes, crisscrossed by roads and utility lines and bristling with no-trespassing signs.

It has, he said, motels and trailer courts, a lumber yard, stores and restaurants, and presents problems of sewage and garbage disposal, fire protection, law enforcement, traffic control and public sanitation.

NEW VS. OLD

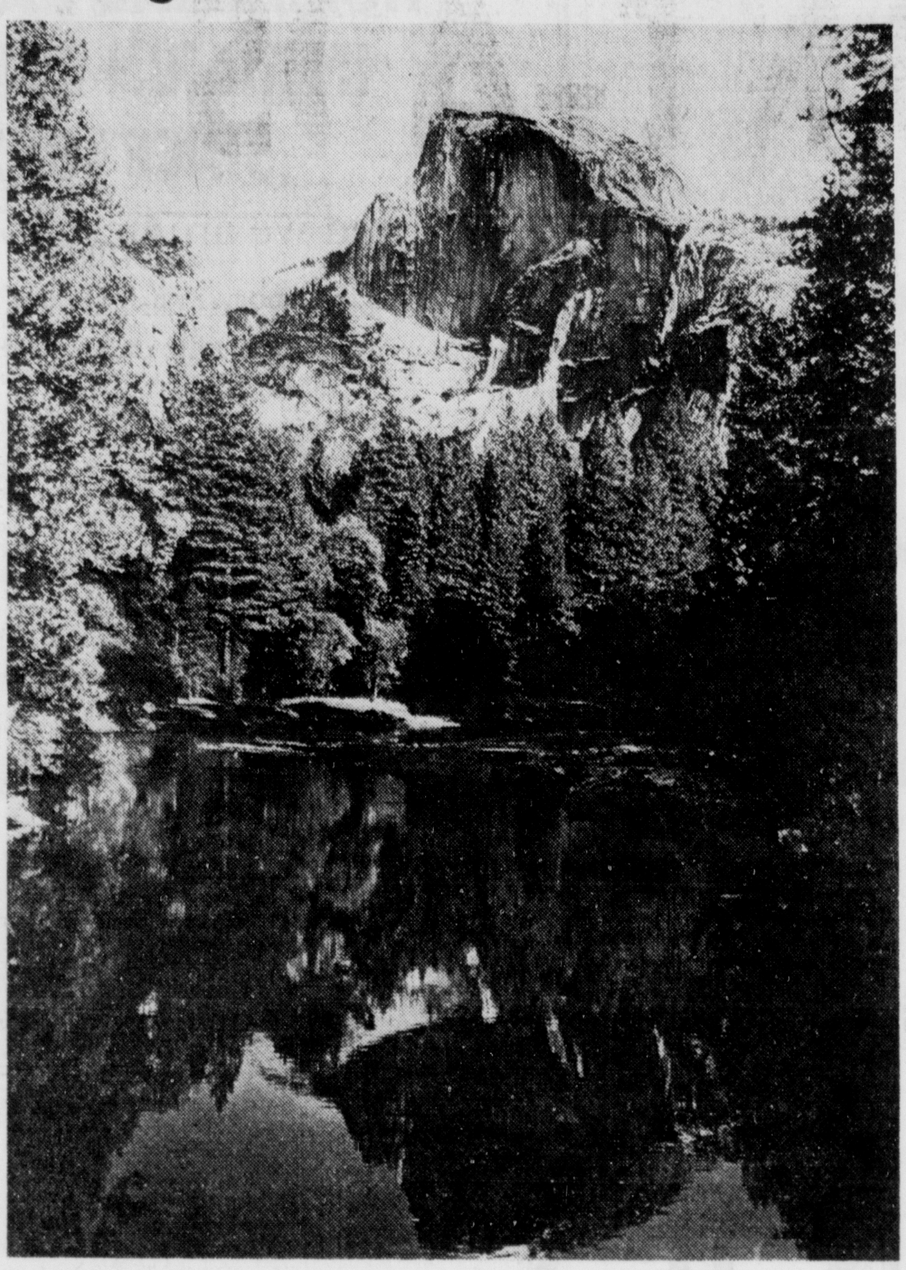
The park service, he said, has concentrated its land acquisition funds on new park areas in the past few years, but soon should begin a concerted effort to buy up private holdings.

Land price escalations have become an increasing problem, Hartzog said. He estimated that private land values in the Yosemite Valley section of Yosemite Park are increasing at the rate of 33 per cent a year.

Price escalation at the new Whiskeytown National Recreation area in Northern California is almost as bad, Hartzog said.

Testifying in support of a budget request for $4 million for Whiskeytown land acqusition in the 12 months beginning July 1, Hartzog said the escalation there "is perhaps more severe than at any other single area, because it is a small area, it sits right outside of a community, and it is a popular area."

Last year, he said, there were 835,000 visitors at Whiskeytown. His estimate for 1973 is 1.7 million.



HOW THEY WANT IT — Serene beauty of Yosemite Park's Half Dome and Merced River (above) is marred, National Park Service officials declare, by private holdings of nearby Wawona. They brand the square mile of summer cabins, utility poles and no trespassing signs an unplanned "hodgepodge."

Tomales Pro-Unification Group Selects Officers

Jack K. McPherson was elected chairman and Mrs. Lois Parks, secretary, of the Citizens Committee for Unification of the Tomales High School District with its elementary school districts, last night at the Tomales High School.

The committee set 8 p.m. May 2 at the Tomales High School for its organizational meeting, Mrs. Parks said. At that time various committees will be set up, she said.

A public hearing will be held at the high school at 8 p.m. May 15 by the Marin County Com- Organization, Mrs. Parks mittee on School District reported.

Two candidates' nights were set. They are 8 p.m. May 22 at the Tomales High School and 8 p.m. May 28 at the West Marin School, according to Mrs. Parks. Another candidates' night is planned for Bodega Bay, but the time and place have not been set, she said.

The election for the unification of the high school district with the West Marin, Tomales, Watson and Bodega Bay elementary districts will be held with the primary election June 4.

Future Of Bay Area Talk Set At College

He will be giving the last of the spring series of Guzman Hall lectures. The author of six books about the bay, Gilliam is with the San Francisco Chronicle and teaches at San Francisco State College.

Seminary Home Project Begins

Construction began this week on faculty and staff apartments at the Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary, Strawberry, at a cost of $225,000.

The new additions, southeast of the academic buildings along Seminary Drive, are made of stucco and wood and comprise four townhouse units and six three-bedroom apartments.

Present plans call for the buildings, constructed by J. H. Hedrick and Co., South San Francisco, to be completed by the middle of August.

Belvedere Agenda

Belvedere Planning Commission will consider architectural approval for Vogue Cleaners to remodel its laundry building at 1530 Tiburon Boulevard at 8 p.m. Monday at the Community Center.

REEDLAND WOODS

REEDLANDS WOODS is a new, posh Tiburon area in which you can find hunting lodge tranquility amid the ultimate in modern comforts. Groups of stately Eucalyptus trees dominate the setting. Ideally located near freeway, shopping and schools and comfortably close to San Francisco, yet far enough away to give you that "vacation home" feeling. REEDLAND WOODS homes highlighted by the dramatic use of rough hewn timbers and massive, elegant fireplaces, have all been designed by nationally-known architects who skillfully blended the best of the old with the amenities of the new. All rooms are unusually spacious and most tastefully planned. To give you a better idea of REEDLAND WOODS homes, let us describe one of them to you.

A most attractive two-way brick fireplace divides this home's gold-carpeted and skylight-windowed living room from its formal dining room and sitting room, which together, form a baronial entertainment center. 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths, laundry room. Gourmet cooking is made easy in this home's efficient and ultra-modern kitchen. Beautifully hand-laid parquet floored family room. A rustic wooden staircase off the hall will lead you to a most unique floating library or music center. This home is located on a sheltered cul-de-sac, on a lot with a level pool site. ## INSTANT BATH, GUINEA PIG STYLE

Driver Gets Light Penalty Due To Blow

A 48-year-old San Jose man was given a lighter-than-usual sentence for drunken driving yesterday, partly because a California Highway Patrol officer slapped him in the face while he was handcuffed at the time of his arrest.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr., acting on the district attorney's recommendation, fined Gabryel Tad Maj $250 and sentenced him to five days in jail, but suspended both the fine and the jail term.

He placed Maj on two years of probation and suspended his driver's license for six months, stating the suspension will be concurrent with one already imposed by the state Department of Motor Vehicles.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Ernest C. Zunino said that, during Maj's jury trial, Officer Charles Samuels of the CHP testified that Maj was handcuffed, but loud and abusive while sitting in his patrol car the night of his arrest at Dolan's Corner in Tamalpais Valley.

Samuels told the jury he told Maj to keep quiet 10 times, then backhanded the handcuffed man across the face, according to Zunino.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said a transcript of Samuels' testimony has been sent to Capt. Theodore Parnow of the highway patrol.

Samuels is a veteran of 10 years of service with the CHP and five years with the Oakland Police Department, Zunino said. His record is reportedly unblemished.

In recommending a light sentence, Zunino also told the court that Maj is short of funds and reported that he was a prisoner of war of the Germans during World War II.

City-County Committee To Try Again

The City-County Services Committee will try again Monday to select a chairman to succeed Michael Wornum of Mill Valley, who resigned in February to run for supervisor.

The meeting is set for 8 p.m. in room 343 of the Civic Center.

The selection of a chairman was on last month's agenda, but the meeting could not be held because of a lack of a quorum.

Alfred J. Malvino, Larkspur mayor, succeeded Wornum on the committee, but the chairmanship is still undecided.

Supervisors Ernest N. Kettenhofen and John F. McInnis represent the county, and Malvino and Councilman Douglas Merrill of Novato represent the cities.

The committee also will discuss the possibility of setting up a general services district for Ross Valley, a proposal to encourage San Anselmo, Fairfax and Ross to work with unincorporated areas of Kentfield and Greenbrae to coordinate undergrounding of utilities and formation of a countywide investigative bureau for major crimes, patterned after the county drug abuse bureau.

Youth Denies Charge On Dope Possession

John R. Lake, 19, and Robert E. Windsor, 22, both of San Rafael, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a charge of possessing marijuana at their apartment Tuesday night.

Annexation Prezoning Hearing Set

A public hearing on prezoning of the "high school tidelands" area proposed for future annexation will be held by the Mill Valley Planning Commission at 8 p.m. Monday in the city council chamber.

The area includes part of Richardson Bay as far as Sabella's restaurant, the freeway frontage road commercial area, Shelter Bay apartments, part of the Bothin lands east of Miller Avenue, and Tamalpais High School and its campus.

Owners of Shelter Bay apartments filed suit three and a half years ago to prevent annexation, but according to city officials, the Bank of America has now completed foreclosure of the apartment development and has indicated it will drop the suit.

The rezoning would establish zones which would apply as soon as the area came into the city. Proposed prezoning is compatible with present uses, the city planning staff reported.

Storer Asks Revival Of Campus Try

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer asked yesterday for a renewed effort to place a campus of the University of California in Marin County.

He said he would urge the supervisors Tuesday to name a new committee to maintain communications with university and alumni officials.

Storer noted that it was unlikely a North Bay campus would be established in the near future because of budget trims in Sacramento, but said he had been told by school and alumni officials that Marin should continue to press for a campus site.

Besides its educational value, the campus would provide a boon to the economy and become a focal point for cultural activities in Marin, Storer said.

A former committee appointed by the supervisors to try to gain a University of California campus for Marin comprised former Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker and Jack Craemer, editor and co-publisher of the Independent-Journal. U.C. regents have expressed interest in a North Bay site, but never formally picked one.

Mayor Admits Ghettos Exist

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)--Mayor Allen Thompson said Thursday a tour has convinced him he was wrong about there being no Negro ghettos in the Mississippi capital.

Thompson and other city officials and department heads made a three-hour inspection tour late yesterday of several sections of the city at the invitation of a group of Negro leaders.

"I have to change my mind on that," said the Mayor of a statement made Tuesday that no "ghettos" existed here. "To be perfectly honest, I am surprised to see some of the things I have seen."

GOP Leader Doubts Reagan's Nomination

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The president of the California Republican League says Gov. Ronald Reagan's chances of capturing the GOP presidential nomination are remote.

Palo Alto attorney Leonard Ware told a news conference yesterday that he hoped other candidates would get into the race actively before the GOP convention. "The great mass of Republicans would like to see more faces and hear more solutions offered before the convention."

NIXON, OTHERS

He said Richard M. Nixon did not have the nomination sewed up and named other possibilities such as Nelson Rockefeller, Charles Percy, John Lindsay, Mark Hatfield "and a host of others."

But he ruled out Reagan almost completely because "there is a point where you have to accept the governor's repeated expressions that he is not a candidate."

Ware commented on the political scene on the eve of the CRL convention. The 4,000 member volunteer group's representatives today were to hear Rep. Paul McCloskey, R-Calif., and Senator Percy. They also planned to consider the thorny issues of the draft, jobs for minorities, and state tax withholding.

KUCHEL, RAFFERTY

Tomorrow, the league will endorse a U.S. Senate candidate. Ware refused to speculate on whether the convention would back Thomas Kuchel or Max Rafferty but admitted he knew of no league officials supporting Rafferty. The two men will speak to the convention before the endorsement is made.

"rash statement" when he in-

President Johnson made a vited North Vietnam to negotiate anywhere at any time, Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., said yesterday in Los Angeles.

Percy said the statement left the United States in a poor bargaining position, and America now may have a hard time finding a suitable site for talks.

Percy made the statements at a news conference following his arrival in Los Angeles for a speech today at University of California.

He said California Gov. Ronald Reagan has no chance to win the Republican presidential nomination unless he makes up his mind to campaign for it actively.

Inmates To Treat Their Mothers

"It won't be 'Breakfast at Tiffany's' but it is another first for San Quentin inmates," according to the San Quentin News.

Inmates are going to be allowed to buy breakfast for their mothers after Mother's Day services May 12, Warden Louis S. Nelson has announced.

The breakfast will be served in the prison's south dining hall, and the inmates will pay for the meal with a $1 canteen ducat.

The breakfast was the suggestion of the Inmate Advisory Council and was approved by Warden Nelson.

Garden Class

A beginning class in "Gardening for the Home Owner and Landscape Planning" will be held by the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department starting Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Recreation Center, Second and Brooks streets. Instructor for the eight-week course is Dennis Untermann.

CAMPAIGN ROUNDUP

Kennedy Booed, Nixon Backs LBJ Peace Effort

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy said yesterday he would not accept the vice presidential nomination at the August Democratic National convention.

"I am not going to be Vice President. I am running for President," Kennedy said.

HOSTILE CROWD

Kennedy, winding up a one-day jet-storming trip of California, faced a shouting, often hostile crowd of 6,000 college-age students in his final appearance before leaving for Denver, Colo., and Nebraska.

The senator is entered in California's June 4 winner-take-all primary test. Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota and an uncommitted delegation that could, but probably won't, become a stalking horse for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey also are entered. The winner gets 172 national convention delegates.

Kennedy threw away his prepared text at the University of San Francisco and was greeted by a tumultous crowd that peppered him with questions even before he spoke, then interrupted his answers.

YOUTH EJECTED

One bearded young man with shoulder-length hair rushed to the front of the podium before Kennedy began to speak and shouted "freedom, freedom." Two officers grabbed him by the arms. He broke free once but they finally dragged him from the university gymnasium.

BOOS ON STAND

The senator drew a chorus of boos from the youthful audience when he was asked if he would pardon youths who declined to fight in Vietnam and replied: "I would have no plans to give them amnesty."

When the noise died down, Kennedy explained that many young men, among them youths who are poor and Negroes, went to Vietnam and risked or lost their lives. Some of them, he said, did not want to go to war.

McCARTHY GOALS

Other youngsters dream of being president of the United States, but presidential aspirant Eugene J. McCarthy wanted nothing more in his boyhood than to play first base for the New York Yankees.

McCarthy, addressing a young, screeming crowd of 10,000 at the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia last night, recollected his youthful baseball ambitions—and added that even though he is a presidential hopeful, he doesn't want to call 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue his home.

"I don't want to live in the White House," the Minnesota senator said. "They ought to turn it into a museum."

NIXON BACKS LBJ

Although President Johnson's Vietnam policies continue to draw heavy fire from presidential aspirants in his own party, Richard M. Nixon, the only major Republican candidate has declared a moratorium on criticism on Johnson's war moves.

Nixon, speaking to a meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, said Johnson was "the one man" who could bring peace in Vietnam, adding: "I am not going to do anything to undercut nim until he has a chance to bring it about."

Surgical Quack's Cruel Hoax Costly To Both Purse, Mind

VAN DELLEN

Several months ago we received the following letter: "One of my coworkers claims her gallbladder was removed without undergoing an operation." Our reader never heard of this and wanted to know if she was behind the times.

I said, "No," and that I would have to see this done before believing it. In our answer, we mentioned a Philippine faith healer who claims to be able to do this.

Christian Hope Held 'No Pie In The Sky' Dream

By LOUIS CASSELS
U.P. International

"God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes, and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain."

Those words from the Book of Revelation voice one of the main themes of the New Testament — the promise that God someday will bring about here on earth a "new creation" in which men will live together in peace and justice and love.

The early Christians associated the promised transformation with the return of Christ, and lived in daily expectation of it.

As centuries passed without the anticipated "second coming" and without any discernible change in the amount of evil and suffering in the world, the Christian hope gradually came to be postponed to a future life in heaven.

A movement is now developing in European and American theological circles to restore the New Testament vision of a better world to its original place at the heart of Christian faith.

Its leader is Dr. Jurgen Moltmann, a distinguished German scholar currently teaching in the United States as a visiting professor at Duke University.

Moltmann's book, "The Theology of Hope," now available in an English translation (Harper & Row), is not easy reading for laymen. It's the kind of book that a minister should study and interpret for his congregation.

Moltmann finds no Scriptural warrant for assuming that Christian hope will be fulfilled only in eternity. The Bible is "full to the brim" with promises that God will "make all things new" in this world of space and time.

Although the full accomplishment of the great transeformation is still in the future, Moltmann says, it has already begun. It began with the resurrection of Christ.

Hong Kong Blind Choir Will Sing

The Chinese for Christ Hong Kong Blind Choir will be featured at tomorrow's 11 a.m. service at the First Baptist Church of San Anselmo.

The choir, on its first visit to the United States, is made up primarily of Asian orphans and have been trained to sing phonetically in English by Stephen Shao, director.

The program will consist of hymns and Chinese folks songs with oriental instrument accompaniment, including the pipa and hsiao sen.

W. Moffat Dennis, chaplain at Sonoma State Hospital, will be guest minister tomorrow and April 28 at the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael.

Reverend Dennis is also professor of sociology at Santa Rosa Junior College and pastor of the Kenwood Community Church in Santa Rosa.

His appearances will make the last guest minister for the church. Dr. Charles Griffin, Oxnard pastor, will assume his duties May 1 as senior minister of the church. Doctor Griffin was appointed to fill the vacancy two months ago created by the resignation of Rev. Wesley Baker last August.

FAMILY DIALOGUE

The Family Life Education Council of Marin County will present a six-week discussion series on biological, sociological and economic aspects of family life, beginning at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the St. Raphael Catholic Church auditorium in San Rafael.

Moderator for the first session will be Rev. Maurice M. McCormack of St. Raphael's.

GUEST LECTURER

Eugene D. Tyc, of San Diego, will present a lecture at 8 p.m. Thursday at the First Church of Christ Scientist, Butte and Sacramento streets in Sausalito. Tyc's lecture is entitled, "Claim Your Freedom."

SPECIAL SCHOOL

A Tuesday afternoon "Sunday" school will begin this week at the First Baptist Church in Mill Valley, according to Rev. John A. Mac Donald, church pastor.

TO CONFERENCE

Frank Webber, member of the Mill Valley Methodist Church, is a delegate to tomorrow's General and Uniting Conference in Dallas. The three-day conference will officially unite California-Nevada Methodist Church Conference and the present Evangelical United Brethren Church.

The new church will be called United Methodist Church.

TO CONDUCT CLASSES

Dr. Akhtar Khavari, First Knight of Baha'u'llah, a Baha'i teacher, will present the first of 17 discussions at 8 p.m. tomorrow at 25 Mount Lassen Drive in Lucas Valley. His topic will be "What Is Modern About Man."

Doctor Khavari will be in Marin through May 2, close of the Ridvan period, second most holy season for members of the Baha'i Faith.

Rabbi Reaching The Young People

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Rabbi Robert Schectman, 28, who tools around town in a white souped-up sports car called "Heavenly Hauler" and who has won several drag races in the area, says his car speaks louder to teen-agers than sermons.

"I have been able to show these teen-agers that a religious person is a real person. To be religious doesn't mean that one must be withdrawn."

Threats Seen To Catholic Church

NEW YORK (AP) — An obsessive yen for change threatens the stability of the Roman Catholic Church, writes British layman Christopher Derrick, in a new book, "Trimming the Art," published by P. J. Kenedy & Sons.

He says the "cult of change" — an uncritical passion for innovation — has long permeated secular society, but is now affecting the Catholic Church, with the result that the ancient "ark" — the church — is listing far more than a seaworthy ship should.

Historical Session Of Church Women

WETHERBY, England (AP) — Methodist deaconesses in modern blue costumes, Anglican and Roman Catholic nuns in black habits and modernized gray, met for the first time at Wood Hall, the Roman Catholic ecumencial center in Yorkshire, for discussion and a Bible service.

They talked about the relevance of the church's role in today's world, their own role in the church and Christian unity.

Texas Trend

MINERAL WELLS, Tex. (AP) — Among 929 Baptist churches in Texas that have replied to a questionnaire, 34 of them have some Negro members, and 333 have adopted integration policies to accept Negro members, but as yet have none.

An $8 Million Center For Religious Training

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI)—The Glorietta Baptist Summer Assembly is expected to draw more than 25,000 persons to the Southwest this year.

Beginning in June and lasting until after Labor Day, this massive summer conference will bring together leading Baptist clerics and lay persons from almost every state in the nation plus a few from foreign countries for conferences and leadership training session.

Starting in 1953, the assembly leaders turned a secluded ranch in the New Mexico foothills into an area that looks more like a college campus than a church assembly point. The over-all investment in land, buildings and facilities comes close to $8 million.

EXTENSIVE GROUNDS

Just completed is the first phase of a new $1.3 million auditorium. An expensive illuminated tower dominates the assembly area.

The grounds now cover 1,300 acres of mountain land 18 miles east of Santa Fe, and the tower offers a unique view to passing motorists on the newly completed Interstate 25.

Part of the view is of three gigantic halls that look like college dormitories. Named for Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico, the halls contain 277 bedrooms, each with its own private bath.

Below the halls are seven other large lodges and apartment buildings. They contain another 250 bedrooms.

Then there are 40 efficiency apartments near the assembly's 10-acre garden, a woman's dormitory for 188 girls, a mens dormitory for almost 100 boys, 11 assembly-owned cottages, two duplex apartment buildings and more than 50 camp shelters.

Building sites also have been leased to individual Baptists and churches for cottage construction. At least 50 cottages have been built by individuals and church groups around the assembly grounds.

20 CONFERENCES

Each summer the assembly stages about 20 conferences. They range from youth meetings to writers' conferences.

The nation's leading Baptists conduct the Glorietta Conferences. Such leaders as Philip B. Harris of Nashville, Tenn., and Doris Devault of Birmingham, Ala., head the rosters each year. They also conduct similar conferences at Ridgecrest, Glorieta's eastern counterpart, located in the Carolina Hills.

Many conferences, naturally, are from New Mexico and the neighboring states of Texas and Oklahoma, but during one conference week last year, 38 states were represented. Some came from foreign countries.

The assembly receives little or no help from outside church sources in promoting the summer conferences. But for six years before the grounds were opened, contributions were taken up in Baptist churches throughout the country.

Ghetto Action Is Top Priority

NEW YORK (UPI) — Action on the crisis in the nation's ghettos will have top priority in spending by the United Church of Christ through 1971, according to the church's Executive Council.

The council called on the denomination's 6,495 local churches to contribute up to 5 per cent of their local expenses for that purpose.

Churches struggling to pay off mortgages were asked to give at least 1 per cent of their annual expenses-costs of maintaining the church and the minister's salary. More prosperous churches will be expected to give at least 5 per cent.

Gutenberg Copies

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—There are 47 known copies of the first Bible produced by Johannes Gutenberg, according to the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO).

Seminarians Name Officers

Louis T. Scales of Lubbock, Tex., is the newly elected president of the Seminary Student Association at Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary at Strawberry.

Other new officers are Don R. Taylor of Pine Bluff, Ark., first vice president; Linda E. Phillips of Fontana, San Bernardino County, second vice president; Charlie Mayes of Chevrolet, Ky., student editor; Floyd G. Hugoboom of Medford, Ore., men's representative.

Also U. Blanche Ennis of Trelawny, Jamaica, women's representative; Rosetta Madison of Brevard, N.C., secretary, and Danny H. Coker of North Little Rock, Ark., treasurer.

Go-Go Dancer Joins Ministry For Night Folks

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A pretty red-haired go-go dancer helps a minister conduct a special predawn church service each Wednesday — and she plans to become a Methodist minister.

Shapely Shirley Thomas, 24, says the Methodist services are for "night people," adding proudly that she herself is a "night person."

For six nights a week — from 9:30 p.m. until 2 a.m. — she dances at a local nightclub. She says she also was the first of the city's go-go performers to work with a boa constrictor.

She did the act, clad in a leopard-skin bikini and fig leaves, with the snake draped around her neck.

Shirley is a senior psychology major at Georgia State College with a B-plus average.

She also is quite serious about entering the ministry.

Two years ago, she was injured in a serious automobile accident.

"If there was any one moment that changed my whole life, it was that wreck," she said. "I think it was then that I began to think about entering the ministry."

Miss Thomas has enrolled in the Candler School of Theology at Emory University for the fall quarter.

Deanship Goes To A Layman

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For the first time, a layman has been named dean of the School of Philosophy of The Catholic University of America.

He is Dr. Jude P. Dougherty, who joined the Catholic University School of Philosophy as associate professor in 1966 after having been on the faculty of the Bellarmine College since 1958. Dr. Dougherty specializes in American philosophy and has written on the metaphysical roots of contemporary restlessness, recent American naturalism, and American naturalistic ethics.

Sets Congress

NEW YORK (UPI) — Archbishop Iakovos, Primate of the Greek Orthodox Church of North and South America, has announced that the Archdiocesan Council at a recent meeting in Detroit reiterated its decision to convene the 19th Biennial Clergy-Laity Congress of the Greek Orthodox Church in Athens, Greece, July 20-27.

Trying To Bring Two Worlds Closer To An Understanding

REV. JESSE ANDERSON
Sometimes snubbed

WASHINGTON (AP) — He lives and works in two worlds, and tries to bring them closer together.

On Sundays he is Rev. Jesse F. Anderson Jr., a minister in an all-white Episcopal church in an all-white neighborhood.

On weekdays he is "Jessie" to hordes of poor kids in a predominantly Negro neighborhood of Washington, where he runs a storefront mission called the Southeast Enrichment Center.

He is a Negro. His center, shabby outside but bright and spotless inside, will find you a part-time job to keep you in school, lend you books, give you a place to study, provide a game of pool or table tennis, help out if you get pregnant, or get in trouble with the police.

There are likely to be 75 kids there any night.

Father Anderson—the kids call him that too, if he happens to have his clerical collar on—is 30. He looks younger when bicycling to work or, clad in a sweatshirt, tossing a football with the teen-agers. He recently grew a hippie-style beard.

He heads the Neighborhood Advisory Council, directs the summer day camp program, fights for federal and city funds for is Teen Center, Odd Job Center and other causes, and teaches night classes in sociology at Southeastern University.

At the mission he assembles Negroes and whites from the opposite sides of the city for "dialogues" that run through dinnertime and evening, once a week for 15 weeks. Then a new series is begun, bringing together more strangers from his two worlds.

For St. Patrick's Episcopal church, miles away in a setting of handsome homes and shade trees, Reverend Anderson is an answer to questions that bother many an all-white congregation: How can we help out? How do we get involved?

St. Patrick's raised $45,000 to launch and support for three years a one-man inner city mission.

It interviewed eight young white and Negro priests in 1966, then invited the Rev. Mr. Anderson to come from Philadelphia to man the mission, and to take his turn regularly in St. Patrick's pulpit.

One or two parishioners walked out the first time he appeared in the chancel. A few families canceled their pledges and left St. Patrick's. Now, says Rev. Thomas D. Bowers, rector, some have come back, and membership and pledging have risen.

St. Patrick's members work with Father Anderson, but he relies mainly on cooperation with other neighborhood agencies, including a Catholic mission.

His hardest job, Father Anderson says, is explaining to well-to-do whites why the poor think and behave as they do.

He says "It's hard to understand, for instance, why it makes sense to some girls to have babies—and several of them—out of wedlock.

"It isn't just for the extra welfare money but almost from a sense of loneliness—of wanting to have someone or something to care for and be loved by."

Lutheran Church Reports Contributions Up

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—The American Lutheran Church received cash contributions of $21,743,979 in the fiscal year ended Jan. 31, an increase of $690,470 over the previous fiscal year, but falling slightly short of the church's planned program of expenditures.

The shortage will reduce capital funds available to several ALC divisions, particularly the regular "forward phase" needs of the church's colleges and seminaries. But it was pointed out the colleges and seminaries will benefit from a major campaign which has a three-year goal of $20 million, of which more than $12 million already has been subscribed.

Young Givers

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI)—Assemblies of God Sunday School children under age 12 throughout the United States contributed $238,633 to the Boys and Girls Missionary Crusade fund-raising program in 1967. This compared with contributions of $203,089 in 1966, an increase of $36,564, or 17 per cent.

Clothing Drive

NEW YORK (UPI)—The annual Spring Clothing Appeal of Lutheran World Relief will be conducted the week of May 5-12. Emphasis is placed again on donations of blankets, bedding, and children's clothes. It also is suggested that adult clothing and other articles can be converted into five-by-seven foot blankets.

Enrollment Up

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI)—Enrollment in the nine Assemblies of God Bible and arts-sciences colleges in the United States for 1967-68, is 4,860, an increase of 309 over the 1966-67 total.

Music Session Set In July

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—The 1968 Montreat music conference in North Carolina, sponsored by the Presbyterian Church in the United States, will be held July 18-24, reports the Presbyterian News Service.

Church organists, choir directors, choir members, education directors and ministers will consider the problems and potential of the parish musician. Special attention will be given to children's choir work.

Christology Handbook Prepared By Lutherans

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Division of Theological Studies in the Lutheran Council in the USA has prepared a handbook on Christology, designed as a study guide for intersynodical discussions at local and regional levels.

Celtics Cap Amazing Comeback Against 76ers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Boston Celtics' achievements take up plenty of space in the National Basketball Association record books. And just when it looked as if the Philadelphia 76ers were about to start a dynasty of their own. The Celtics came up with another piece of history.

The aging Celtics edged the 76ers 100-96 last night in the seventh and final game of their Eastern Division championship playoffs, becoming the first team in NBA history to win a seven-game series after trailing, 3-1.

As amazing as the Celtics' comeback was the Wilt Chamberlain puzzle. The greatest offensive player the game has ever known took one shot and scored only two points in the second half. He wound up with 14 points.

Coach Alex Hannum said he was as puzzled as the 15,202 fans at the Spectrum. "From my point of view we got the ball in there for him to handle," Hannum said. "We played 'center-in basketball.' It was a question of hitting the open man. I never told him not to shoot the ball. The answer is simple—He didn't shoot the ball. There was no intention on my part to take the ball out of the pivot.

"I want Wilt to be offensive minded. Our pregame plan was to let the pivot handle the ball. At most, I called six plays in the second half."

Chamberlain said he was aware he wasn't getting many shots. "That's the way our plays ran. I tried to hit the open man. We had men open. I can't do what I'm not told to do, and I'm not faulting anybody. The plays weren't for me. They were good plays but they didn't materialize."

The answer probably is twofold. Chamberlain played the way he has all season, setting up plays out of the pivot, but the 76ers were cold from the field for the third straight game. They shot 35.2 per cent, and you don't win championships with that kind of shooting. And give Boston some credit. The Celtics played tough defense.

The hard-fought game was tied five times in the fourth quarter before John Havlicek hit a 15-foot jumper for an 89-88 Boston lead with 4:41 remaining. Philadelphia never did catch up.

Celtics, player-Coach Bill Russell scored 12 points, grabbed 26 rebounds, and blocked countless shots in what Chamberlain and other 76ers described as a magnificent performance. Sam Jones led a balanced Boston attack with 22 points. Havlicek scored 21, Larry Siegfried 18 and Bailey Howell 17.

Said Russell after the game: "I'm going to tell you something. I was never more worried about a game than this one. It was the seventh and final and away from home. It was a tough situation. But we haven't won anything yet," he said, looking ahead to the NBA title series starting tomorrow afternoon in Boston against Western champion Los Angeles.

JACK HANLEY

Mays' Fund-Raising Alabama Sidetrip Enroute To New York

Willie Mays preceded his teammates into New York for their Shea Stadium series with the Mets by several hours. Mays arrived early in the big city to do a little something for his home town of Birmingham, Ala.

Miles College, where Willie played ball on the campus as a kid, has no gym. So it was announced that Mays has been named chairman of a campaign to raise money to build one. It will be named the Willie Mays Health and Physical Education Center.

New York reporters discovered this accidentally when they called on Mays at the team's hotel headquarters for an interview. What they had in mind for a story was Mays' recent exchange with Jackie Robinson.

Mays previously set straight his position on racial matters and made it quite clear that just because he did not appear on picket lines did not mean that he wasn't deeply concerned about civil rights.

Racial Issue Set Straight

All this already was on the record. Still, the New York reporters, to their credit, wanted to hear it again directly from Mays himself.

"I'm not speaking out," said Mays. "I'm doing something the way I've been doing something since I was 19 years old. When I talk to kids, I talk to black and white, and this is something my home town needs for all races.

"I know one thing, when you take care of the youth of America, it's got to come out good."

Always Says Proper Thing

Whether the subject matter is civil rights, New York City or baseball, Mays always says the proper thing. Yes, he acknowledged, it always was a thrill to come back to the big town where his remarkable major league career started in 1951.

"New York," said Mays, "is like your first love. It never changes."

Wasn't baseball getting to be work for him now that he is only weeks away from his 37th birthday (May 6?)

"I'm just beginning to understand you don't play ball forever," he said. "When the time comes I want to stay in baseball in some capacity where I can help kids learn the game."

That's what Willie has been doing quietly without fanfare for almost two decades — helping kids — black and white.

Aging Mays Hits Giants Past Bucs

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Like a good bottle of wine, Willie Mays keeps getting better with age.

Mays, who will be 37 in May, drove in the winning runs Thursday against the New York Mets. Then last night, he had a crack at the Pittsburgh Pirates and the result was the same.

His eighth inning single scored Ron Hunt from second, giving Juan Marichal and the Giants a 5-2 triumph. Jim Ray Hart followed May's hit with his fourth homer of the season.

For Marichal, the victory was his second against no defeats. The loss went to Jim Bunning (1-1). Marichal allowed seven hits and struck out seven.

Ray Sadecki was scheduled to take the mound today against Bob Veale (0-1) of the Pirates. Sadecki was looking for his second victory against no losses.

The score was knotted 2-2 with Marichal and Pittsburgh's Jim Bunning locked in a stirring pitching duel as Ron Hunt opened the eighth with a single. Jim Davenport sacrificed Hunt to second and Mays singled him home.

Earlier, Willie McCovey had put San Francisco ahead 1-0 with a fourth-inning four-bagger into the right field deck. Hart and Jesus Alou kept the scoring going, Hart with a triple and Alou with a single.

Pittsburgh tied it up in the bottom of the fourth on a succession of singles by Gene Alley, Roberto Clemente and Willie Stargell and a ground out by Donn Clendenon.

Mays also excelled in the first inning by clouting a triple, the 1,118th extra base hit of his career.

Terra Linda Gets Scare In Prep Baseball Race

Unbeaten Terra Linda, dragging along desperately for more than half the ballgame, wound up fighting for its life yesterday in a Marin County Athletic League game against also-rans San Rafael.

The Trojans finally saved a life, put the final stitch in with a seven-run operation in the sixth inning to cap what had been a close ballgame into an 11-4 triumph.

The win kept the Trojans on top of the heap with a 4-0 record just a shade ahead of Redwood at 4-1.

Redwood kept close by dumping Marin Catholic, 11-5, and Tamalpais won its first game by upsetting Drake, 8-5, in a run-happy day.

In a non-league game, Novato took Redwood Tournament of Champions titlist Petaluma, 4-3, in a error-filled contest.

The Trojans trailed San Rafael, 3-1, for four innings, before erupting for three runs in the fifth to take a 4-3 lead. The Bulldogs tied it against reliever Mike Timmel, then went under in a wild sixth, that was highlighted by Craig Logan's triple and double in the same inning.

The Giants rocked a pair of Marin Catholic hurlers for five stolen bases and eight hits, including three by Bob Scovil. Mark Carbone, the loser, had to come in again when his reliever couldn't get anybody out.

Mike Terry hurled a five-hitter at the Cats while the Giants were getting help from 10 Marin Catholic walks.

The Indians got to starter Stan Lilienquist for all of their runs before two relievers put out the fire. Wendell McReynolds had a two-run single in the onslaught.

A's Hope Coleman Doesn't Return

Oakland isn't much of a city to visit, says Joe Coleman of the Washington Senators, but it's a good place to play cards and a better place to pitch.

"I don't mean to say anything bad about Oakland," Coleman said, "but there's nothing to do here. We woke up at 7 this morning (yesterday) and there was nothing to do so we sat around and played cards."

But then last night rolled around and Coleman started pitching, and now Oakland wishes he hadn't come at all. The 21-year-old right-hander pitched the Senators to a 3-0 victory over Oakland for his first major league shutout.

Coleman, 8-9 last season and 3-0 in parts of two other seasons with the Senators, allowed only six hits and had only minor problems with the A's as he won his first game of 1968 without a loss.

Another second-year man, Gary Waslewski, also hurled a six-hitter and Boston clobbered Cleveland 9-2 in a game of hit batsmen in which the pitchers did almost as much hitting as the batters.

The California Angels edged Baltimore 2-1 in 10 innings on Bobby Knoop's hit in the only other game.

Detroit's game at Chicago was postponed because of cold weather and Minnesota and New York were not scheduled.

Coleman, who probably will be looking forward to another visit to Oakland, outdueled Jim Nash with the help of Frank Howard's third home run and the hitting and fielding of second baseman Frank Coggins.

Coggins, who had three hits, tripled in the fifth inning and scored on an infield out. After Howard made it 2-0 in the sixth, Coggins snared a line drive with two on and none out in the bottom of the inning and turned it into a double play. Then he made a diving stop for the third out.

Mike Epstein closed the scoring in the ninth with his first homer.

"I felt a little keyed up in the first inning," said Coleman, who gave up three unearned runs in 2 2-3 innings in his only other start, "but that was good. It made me pitch better."

"We really needed a complete game to give our bullpen a rest," said Washington Manager Jim Lemon after watching Coleman pitch only the second complete game for the Senators this season.

Waslewski fell behind 2-0 on Tony Horton's two-run homer, but Carl Yastrzemski's double tied the count in the third and his second double broke the tie in the fifth. The Red Sox hammered out 12 hits.

But Waslewski and Indian starter Sonny Siebert and reliever Hal Kurtz got in some knocks, too. Waslewski hit two batters and Siebert and Kurtz one each and other hitters found themselves hitting the dirt to avoid pitches despite warnings by the umpires.

Knoop's run-scoring single with one out off reliever Eddie Watt followed a walk to Bob Rodgers and a wild pitch.

George Brunet of the Angels and Bruce Howard of the Orioles battled through seven innings, both with four-hitters, before leaving with the score tied 1-1 on Rick Reichardt's second-inning homer for California and a sacrifice fly by Mark Belanger of Baltimore in the fourth.

Debbie, Claudia Spark Swimming Golden Age

PITTSBRURGH (AP)—Swimming greatness is predicted for two California teen-age girls in this year's Olympic Games.

Debbie Meyer and Claudia Kolb "might be the two greatest women swimmers in the world today," says Harry Hainsworth, national aquatic director of the Amateur Athletic Union, who has been watching the two girls smash national records in the AAU's women's spring championships.

"Debbie and Claudia could conceivably win four or five gold medals each in this year's Olympic Games at Mexico City," Hainsworth said.

It would mean each girl would equal or better the brilliant performances of Yale swimmer Don Schollander when he won four gold medals in the 1964 Games.

Debbie, 15-year-old Sacramento schoolgirl, churned her way to a national record of 1:52.1 yesterday in the 200-yard freestyle. In such short races, records usually are set by a fraction of a second. But Debbie whacked a full two seconds off the old mark.

The day before, she bettered the 500-yard freestyle record by a stunning 12.8 seconds, splashing to victory in 4:54.1.

When Debbie breaks records, she does it in a big way.

On tap today is the 1,650-yard freestyle. Debbie already holds the record of 17:38.1.

Hainsworth said he believes Debbie will be the first woman in the world to swim the 1,650 yards in less than 17 minutes.

Debbie, who holds four world freestyle records, said, "The only goal I have is to make the Olympic team and win a gold medal."

Miss Kolb, 17, of Santa Clara, is no stranger to the Olympics. At 13, she won a silver medal in 1964 and holds two world records.

Tar Netters Take Third GVC Title

The College of Marin tennis team bid a fond farewell to the Golden Valley Conference yesterday by coming from behind to defeat Shasta College 4-3 in Kentfield, giving the Tars a perfect 6-0 league mark and their third straight GVC championship.

Coach Dick Read's netters took an early lead with a pair of singles wins, Dan Matin defeating John Avey 6-2, 6-3, and George O'Neill beating Terry Harris 6-3, 6-2, but fell behind and had to take both singles to win.

They did it, as Jim Boudillon and Marty Dougan fought past the Knight's Bruce Middleton and John Avey 7-5, 3-6, 6-3, and Matin and O'Neill outlasted Doug Dese and Bill Wilts in a long thriller, 9-7, 8-6.

"I was really proud of the kids" said Read. "It takes real courage to come from behind like that, they've worked hard and really deserved it."

Pileup In Champion Golf

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A major traffic jam shaped up today in the third round of the $150,000 Tournament of Champions, with veterans Don January and Dan Sikes sharing the lead and seven others hot on their heels.

January, 38, the gaunt Texan from Dallas, and Sikes, 37, a nonpracticing attorney from Jacksonville, Fla., were deadlocked at 138, four strokes under par for 36 holes.

January did it with rounds of 70-68 and Sikes with 68-70 to lead the field of 25 professionals over the 6,708-yard, par-36-35-71 Stardust Country Club course.

The final two rounds were set for national television exposure, ABC 4 to 5 p.m. today and 4 to 5:30 p.m. tomorow, EST.

Seven players were within three strokes of the co-leaders. Gardner Dickinson was alone at 139. Bob Goalby, George Archer and Julius Boros were tied at 140, and Bob Charles, Dave Stockton and Randy Glover were knotted at 141.

The wonder of the thing, as most of the players agreed, was that scores were not lower. The weather yesterday was a little breezy in the afternoon but sunny, in contrast to the chill and high winds the previous day.

The personable Goalby, 1968 Masters champion, had one explanation. "The greens are spooky," he said." It seems like each green is a little different from another."

Billy Casper, a master of most greens, shot a second round 74 for 144 and in the course of things missed three putts of two feet each.

"I developed a great putting stroke—a bad one," said Casper.

Sikes had some thoughts: "It's a scary course. There are out of bounds on almost every hole and it's natural to play scared. But if you want to win the tournament you've got to force yourself to go with the driver and be sold. On the other hand, you don't want to be too bold or you can go for a seven or an eight."

The defending champion, Frank Beard, after soaring to a 76 the first day, came back with a par 71.

Boston Marathon Title Is Back In United States

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston A.A. Marathon championship is back in the United States for the first time in 11 years and only the second since World War II today because a pupil listened to his tutor.

Lanky Ambrose Burfoot, the New England intercollegiate cross country champion from Groton, Conn., proved he learned his lessons well from veteran Johnny Kelley as he captured the 72nd annual Hopkinton-to-Boston Classic Friday.

"I used to dream that I'd be the first American to win the BAA since Mr. Kelley," Burfoot said. "I first met him when I was a high school junior and went out for cross country.

"He has been a terrific friend, a tremendous influence in my life. I wanted to be a marathoner as soon as I met Johnny Kelley. He is such a great person I wanted to be like him."

Kelley, a 37-year-old Groton school teacher, met Burfoot while serving as an advisor to the cross country squad. He has continued helping the 6-foot-1, 138-pound Wesleyan University senior.

Kelley, whose 1957 BAA victory was the only break in a string of foreign triumphs since 1946, stayed with his young protege for 15 miles before faltering in a hot sun and mid-60 temperatures.

Good Hurling In Softball Tournament

A pair of pitching duels highlighted the San Rafael Recreation Department's Softball Tournament at Albert's Field in San Rafael last night.

Sohner Tree Service of San Rafael shut out the Coast Merchants 1-0 as Morey Swarm pitched a one-hitter to best the Merchant's Rich Pozzi, who only allowed two hits after the first inning. Sohner parlayed two hits, a walk, and two wild pitches into a first-inning run that held up the rest of the way.

Paul Koss downed Concord 2-1 in the nightcap, with Koss' pitcher Lyn Jex and Concord's Dale Isaacs each throwing two-hit ball. Isaacs struck out 10.

Swimming Business As Usual

It was business as usual in the Marin County Athletic League swimming race, with the top dogs downing the low dogs.

San Rafael and Tamalpais both won to remain tied for the league lead with 6-1 records and Redwood stayed a step behind at 5-2.

The Bulldogs downed Novato 52-43, in a heated series of races. Tamalpais brushed off defending champion Drake, 60-45, despite another round of fine efforts by Bob Girvin and Ben Edmands. Redwood dunked winless Terra Linda, 69-26.

The Bulldogs victory was highlighted by tight races, as three swimmers nailed down wins on judges decisions. Charlie Collins upset Roger Backstedt in the 50 free, Bill Carter took a decision over teammate Tom Panages in the 200 I.M. and Bill Kuhn of Novato just nicked Eric Sluser in the 200 free.

Girvin, going to different events, swam a 23.4 in the 50 free and a 59.3 in the 100 back but it wasn't enough for the Pirates, who lost both relays.

Britton Discovers Finesse

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Britton, warming up for his first major league start, hurt his arm. And then things got worse.

The young Atlanta right-hander surrendered hits to Cincinnati's first two hitter last night and seemed ripe for an early shower. But the first of four Atlanta double plays rescued him and he came on to pitch a seven-hitter and shut out the Reds, 3-0.

Britton rode consecutive third inning homers by Hank Aaron and Sandy Valdespino and three more Atlanta DPs to the victory--the third straight for the Braves.

In other National League action yesterday, Chris Short hurled a three-hitter as Philadelphia nipped Houston, 2-1, Jim Hart and Willie Mays led San Francisco to a 5-2 victory over Pittsburgh, Orlando Cepeda and Dick Simpson smashed two-run homers as St. Louis crushed Chicago 9-2 and Los Angeles squeezed past New York 3-2.

Detroit's game at Chicago was postponed by cold weather. "My arm was dead," confessed Britton after beating the Reds. "That's the first time I haven't struck out anybody in a game. I guess you have to finesse them a little bit."

Britton finnessed the Reds plenty in the opening inning when singles by Pete Rose and Alex Johnson put men on first and second. The youngster got dangerous Vada Pinson on a pop foul and then fed Tony Perez the double play pitch.

In the third, he ran into trouble again with two on the two out. But again he got Pinson, ending the threat. After that, it was all downhill.

Aaron's shot followed Sonny Jackson's two-out walk in the third and then Valdespino connected for his first National League home run. "It feels good to win," said Britton.

It felt good, too, for Rich Allen, who tagged his first home run of the year and helped Short beat the Astros. Allen, who missed the final two minths last season after cutting his hand in an accident, had managed just one extra base hit in the first eight games this year. "I'm just glad to hit one hard," he said.

Bobby Wine also homered for the Phillies and John Bateman spoiled Short's bid for the shutout with an eighth inning shot for the Astros. Short struck out nine.

Mays drilled a run-scoring single and Hart followed with a two-run homer that broke an eighth inning tie and beat Pittsburgh's Jim Bunning for the Giants.

Willie McCovey also homered for the Giants as Juan Marichal won his second game.

Simpson's two-run homer and Lou Brock two-run triple got ths Cardinals started against Chicago. Later, Cepeda hit his second homer of the year after Curt Flood had extended his hitting streak to nine games.

Rookies Mike Torrez and Hal Gilson combined for the eight-hitter—Torrez' first major league victory.

Claude Osteen pitched a six-hitter and beat the Mets when Jim Lefebvre's eight-inning double snapped a 1-1 tie and Rockey Colavito's single drove in an insurance run.

The Dodgers needed the extra run when Ron Swoboda opened the ninth withe a home run but Osteen got the next three hitters to end it.

Back Seat For Name Golf Stars

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — The few players of star stature were supposed to dominate the $35,000 Azalea Open Golf Tournament this week, not unheralded Bob Lunn.

But Lunn held a four-shot lead at the 36-hole halfway mark today, after tacking a 66 yesterday onto his opening round 63 for a 129 total, 13 under par.

Several other lesser lights followed before the first name contender for Sunday's $5,000 top prize.

Dick Rhyan, shooting a 67 yesterday, held second place at 133 and Dale Douglass and Dave Ragan were locked in third at 135.

South African Gary Player, firing his second 68, was tied at 136 with Steve Reid and Hugh Royer.

Bruce Devlin, the slender Australian, finished fourth in the Masters last Sunday, but his 138 gave him nothing better than a seven-way tie for 12th going into today's third round.

Masters runnerup Roberto de Vicenzo was a stroke back at 139, along with nine others.

Lunn, a 22-year-old from Sacramento, Calif., who was national Publinx winner five years ago, said after he scorched the 6,575-yard Cape Fear Country Club course with his eight-under-par 63 in the opening round that he didn't think he'd feel the pressure.

He showed no signs of it in his second round as he played bogey-free golf and made five birdies, the longest on a 10-foot putt.

"I played as well as I did Thursday and if some of my putts had dropped I would have had another 63," he said. "But I'm happy and I'd like to keep it going."

His 129 was the lowest 36-hole total on the PGA tour this year and broke by three shots the Azalea record held by three players.

Olympic Bluff Showdown At Committee Decision

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — Olympic boss Avery Brundage flies in today amid mounting evidence that the International Olympic Committee is about to confirm the admission of South Africa to the Mexico Olympics and call the bluff of those nations threatening to boycott the Games.

The committee's nine-man Executive Board assembles at 8 a.m. EST, for a two-day meeting expected to decide the fate of the Mexican Olympics.

An IOC postal vote taken during the Winter Olympics in Grenoble, France, decided to readmit South Africa—reportedly with a narrow majority of three votes. Brundage called today's meeting after pledges by some 40 nations that they will not take part in the games if they include South Africa.

AUTO RACING

LONDON — The head of Britain's Lotus car company charged last night that racing driver Jim Clark might have survived his fatal crash in West Germany if the Hockenheim circuit had provided "adequate crash barriers."

The charge was made in a statement issued by Colin Chapman 12 days after Clark, the Scottish double world champion auto racer, died in a Formula 2 race at Hockenheim.

Chapman said it was impossible to be sure about the possible reason for the fatal crash. But, he said, piecemeal investigation of the wreckage of the Lotus car revealed no structural failure.

BASEBALL

CHICAGO — The National League voted for expansion to 12 teams in 1969 if it can get unanimous agreement on the two new cities to be awarded the franchises.

ALMANAC

Today is Saturday, April 20, the 111th day of 1968 with 255 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning star is Venus. The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1861 Col. Robert E. Lee resigned from the U.S. Army with the intention of offering his services to the Confederate forces.

In 1903 Andrew Carnegie gave $1.5 million dollars for the construction of the Hague peace palace in the Netherlands.

In 1926 a "picturegram" of a bank check sent from London to New York by RCA was honored and cashed. It marked the first time a bank honored a check not actually in its possession.

In 1959 Cuban Premier Castro was given a red carpet welcome in New York City.

A thought for the day: French novelist Anatole France said, "to know is nothing at all, to imagine is everything."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

West's Early Overruff Allows South To Make A Rough Hand

"What a wicked deed we have just witnessed!" Sherlock Holmes exclaimed. "Harrumph. Just so," Dr. Watson agreed uncertainly. It was clear that the good doctor, kibitizing at the Baker Street Bridge Club, had not seen anything wicked.

AN OVERTAKE

West led the king of hearts, and East overtook with the ace and continued with the queen and then the ten of hearts. South ruffed with the queen of spades, and West overruffed with the king.

West shifted to a low club, and East took the ace of clubs and led another heart. South ruffed with the ten of spades, and drew the rest of the missing trumps with the ace and jack. Declarer then claimed the rest of the tricks, making his contract of three spades.

Now that you have all the clues before you, see if you can name the wicked deed (add the criminal pho perpetrated it) that shocked Sherlock Holmes. Make up your mind before you read on.

TOO HASTY

The wicked deed occurred at the third trick, when West overruffed with the king of spades. This criminal play allowed South to make his contract.

West should discard instead of overruffing. South leads the ace of spades and then the ten of spades, hoping to hoodwink West into playing low. But West should take the ten of spades with the king and should lead a club to East's ace.

ANOTHER HEART

East returns another heart, and now West is sure to get the nine of spades as the setting trick. If South ruffs low, West can overruff at once; and if South ruffs with the jack of spades, West's nine becomes established as the master trump.

Answer: Bid one spade or pass.

This is a borderline opening bid. Most experts believe in opening a hand with so much playing strength; some believe in guaranteeing more high-card strength in any opening bid.

New Neighbors Stage Welcome

LOUISVILLE (AP) — A strange sight greeted Philip Scholtz and his wife when they accompanied the moving van to their new home. Every house on the block had a "For Sale" sign on the front lawn. All had popped up overnight.

At Scholtz's house, there was an "Open For Inspection" sign on the lawn. It was all a practical joke arranged by Scholtz's new neighbors.

World In Good Hands With Young Scholars

IF YOU HAVE ANY DOUBTS about the ability of America's youth to take care of itself (and improve the world) in adulthood tomorrow, your doubts will vanish if you have the opportunity to serve on a scholarship award panel.

For example, here's a scholarship nominee from a Sacramento Valley town. His high school counselor believes this boy "has just about everything you could ask for. . . . He will be a success and a glowing tribute to any scholarship program, company or school that he represents. . . . His life seems to be dedicated to improving himself and achieving his goals. . . . We consider him one of the outstanding students in a class of outstanding students."

WHAT IS THIS YOUNG man's background?

He is the son of a Chinese grocer. He didn't learn English until he started to school. Yet he won the American Literature Award in his junior year at high school.

Hobbies and recreational activities?

"Schoolwork and a part-time job keep me busy most of the time," the boy says.

"His long hours of work have deprived him of the opportunities to participate in school activities," his counselor reports.

But the record shows he is active in DeMolay, was a first string basketball player, earned a letter in tennis, and has participated in church youth activities.

"I am not the kind of person who is going to set the world on fire someday," he says of himself with inherited Oriental modesty.

You can bet he is right when it comes to wielding a torch during a race riot. But obviously he is wrong if he thinks he's not already a howling success in this life.

IS HE AN EXCEPTION?

In the PG & E annual scholarship program this year, there are about 150 scholarship finalists whose records are similarly inspiring.

Take this young lady just turned 17. She's one of three finalists in the "race" for the same scholarship sought by the aforementioned American lad of Chinese ancestry.

Miss Seventeen, we'll call her, worked last summer in a state mental hospital helping to teach retarded children.

What does she say of that experience?

"I found that these children could learn almost anything if there was time enough and the right method was used," she says simply.

Chosen to attend a National Science Foundation summer institute on behavioral science, she reported she later "was able to apply some concepts such as behavioral control, to teach a retarded 13-year-old to read."

What are her adult goals?

"Most of all, I want to contribute something to society besides working from 9 to 5 for a pay check. . . . I want to help other people live better," she states simply.

THE SMARTEST GIRL IN the senior class at one Sacramento suburban high school is the daughter of a janitor. She is one of six children whose mother attends junior college to study toward a registered nurse degree.

Concerning her adult goals, she says, "Of primary importance will be the benefit of my occupation to society. . . ." But she wants to have time to spend with her future family and "to be active in community affairs.'

IF YOU HAVE THE GOOD fortune to sit on a scholarship award panel and examine nominees by the scores, you are led inescapably to the conclusion that today's scholarship winners will be tomorrow's "establishment" and they will constitute an excellent one.

What will happen to today's demonstrating, drug-abusing hippies?

"'Today's hippies did not have a feeling of emotional security while growing up," observes Dr. Alfred Auerback of the U. C. Medical Center across the bay.

"Because the rebellious teen-ager is not going to find any more happiness as a hippie than he's found elsewhere, the movement is destined to disappear in the foreseeable future," Doctor Auerback concludes.

He could correctly add that tomorrow's "establishment" will be far better than today's.

Critics Of U.S. Vietnam Policy Must Soon Show Their Hand

WASHINGTON — The critics of U.S. policy in Vietnam will soon have to show their hand.

Will they support President Johnson in negotiating a peace settlement to secure the independence of South Vietnam — which is what they say they want?

Or behind this stance will they accept a "fake solution" and a quick American withdrawal — which is what they say they don't want?

So far it has been relatively easy for Senators McCarthy, Kennedy, Fulbright, and others to berate the president for not making enough concessions to induce Hanoi to negotiate but at the same time to insist they weren't advocating concessions which would advance a Communist takeover.

We should soon be able to see whether the critics intend to put their influence on the side of an "honorable settlement" (their phrase) or on the side of peace at any price.

THE CRITICS will have to reveal what line they intend to follow when hard decisions have to be made, like these:

Since Hanoi has stated that the only thing it will discuss at the first meeting with the Americans is how soon all bombing of the North will be ended, should the U.S. continue a one-sided deescalation without any reciprocity by the Communists?

Since the president made his proposal to end the bombing conditional upon the assumption that North Vietnam would not take military advantage of it, should the U.S. discard this condition?

If Hanoi refuses to give any adequate evidence that it will not take advantage of the end to the bombing, should the United States expose its troops and those of South Vietnam and its allies to the fire of the uninhibited infiltration of men and arms from the north while we leave the infiltration routes peaceful and unharassed?

Can either the president or his critics justify ceasing to bomb infiltration routes while the enemy continues to use them to be in a better position to kill more American soldiers?

PRESIDENT JOHNSON will have to disclose his answers to such questions as these in the early stages of the first meetings. And so will his critics. Then we will be able to see where the critics are going to stand.

And there will be other hard decisions both for the administration and for those who have been pressing the president to do almost anything to get Hanoi to the negotiating table.

When and if negotiations begin on the substance of a possible settlement, we will be confronted with the four conditions which the North Vietnamese have said would constitute the only agreement they would accept: (1) prompt withdrawal of all U.S. troops, (2) liquidation of all foreign bases in South Vietnam, (3) a coalition government in which the National Liberation Front would have the dominant voice, (4) arrangements for the future merging of the two Vietnams.

THERE MAY PROVE to be some give in the Hanoi negotiating position and in the end the rock-bottom question the president may have to decide is whether to accept a peace which puts the Communists into a coalition government in Saigon.

Would this be an honorable settlement, a workable settlement, or in the president's words, would it mean "a fake solution to this long and arduous struggle and calling it peace?"

Senator Kennedy has said it would be all right with him. Senator McCarthy has said it would be all right with him. McCarthy has gone even further. He has said quite candidly that he realizes that such a coalition would likely lead to Communist control. The Communist takeover of the coalition government of Czechoslovakia suggests that that would certainly be the result.

An honorable solution would be any settlement which kept the Communists from taking power in South Vietnam.

Revolt At College 'Spirit Of Times'

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I have more than the casual interest of a taxpayer in the College of Marin. I am one of about 100 Marin County citizens serving on the citizens advisory committee which assists and advises the board of trustees and also I am the president of the College of Marin Foundation, the aim of which is to provide funds for loans and scholarships to deserving students of the college.

Familiar as I am with the affairs of the college I would like to express my high regard and support of the members of the board of trustees who are the elected representatives of the taxpayers of the county, and put in countless hours without compensation and very little, if any, public appreciation. I would also like to applaud the plans of the board of trustees to limit the growth of the Kentfield campus and to acquire and develop the Novato campus. As a resident in close proximity to the Kentfield campus I would appreciate less and not more traffic and parking in this area.

In the past the College of Marin has been relatively free of dissension. Everyone connected therewith has seemed to know his place and faculty and administration have done a good job judging from the quality of the scholars going to higher institutions of learning. However, the spirit of the times to resent authority has now entered the picture. There is something rotten somewhere, and it is not in Denmark.

Whether or not we have one campus or two and that now is the time to begin serious work on the plans of the new campus requiring more or less the full time of the superintendent are matters of policy. Surely the faculty at Kentfield, many of whom are not even residents of the county, does not feel that it should take over the policy making regarding a campus at Novato. Policy making is not the business of the Academic Senate, faculty or the superintendent for that matter. If the board should relinquish its policy making responsibilities to anyone or group it should be called to task by the taxpayers of the district for failing in their trust and responsibility. If there are any rocks thrown on this point it should be at the board and not Superintendent Ramstad.

I feel that the crux of the situation is "sour grapes" on the part of a nice guy who had hopes of being president of the Marin campus with the support of the faculty and perhaps he should be. But that is not for the decision of Dr. Ramstad. There is no justification for the request that he resign for disregard of "basic professional and democratic values of the academic community," whatever that means. No doubt at the bottom of the affair is the spirit of the times to resent authority. The faculty would much prefer to have a president of their own selection under whom they might do as they may well please rather than submit to the authority of the board exercised by an executive of the board's choosing. If this is the state of affairs then it is a sad and regrettable situation.

Police, Firemen In Role Of Friends

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Recently there was a death in a Sausalito day child care center, a 3-month-old baby died very suddenly. The child was sick when brought to the center, run by Mrs. Russell Lessig.

The Sausalito police, who I do not know by name, were wonderful in aiding wherever they could.

I can't say enough for the Sausalito firemen, one who gave resuscitation and mouth-to-mouth, especially one Ralph (Swede) Peterson who helped Dr. Hayn when Mrs. Lessig became hysterical; without him it would of been a problem. Ralph knelt and sat beside Mrs. Lessig until the medicine took effect . . .

He would have made a wonderful doctor. God bless him. He's assisted at everything, even delivered babies in the ambulance.

Right then I realized how much a policeman or fireman is our friend. They deserve our respect and our help wherever it is needed.

GOLDEN GATE VIEW

Can Its Directors Reduce Fatal Lure Of Bridge?

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The Golden Gate Bridge "will soon eclipse the Eiffel Tower as the most frequent suicide landmark of the entire Western world."

This is the prediction of Dr. Richard H. Seiden, an assistant professor in the behavioral science division of University of California's School of Public Health. The bridge already "has a tragic reputation as the single most popular location for suicide in the United States," he wrote in a recent letter to bridge and highway district director Ben K. Lerer of San Francisco.

Lerer has fired up campaigns in the past to make the bridge less popular for suicides, but each campaign has foundered because physical barriers were found to be impractical and because experts agreed the bridge district could not solve on its own a problem that besets the entire Bay Area community.

PHYSICAL BARRIERS were found to be impractical either because they interfered with maintenance crews' access over the railings or they interfered with the public's view from the bridge. An argument can be made that human life is more important than the view, but a lot of people still would consider the view more important.

Most persons simply have learned to ignore the problem. But it only grows worse.

Some claim that a person bent on suicide will find some other place if barred from using the bridge. Dr. Henry Turkel, San Francisco's coroner, has observed that if barred from using the bridge, such persons probably would use high buildings downtown—thus threatening to land on pedestrians and to cause property damage and other inconveniences.

He was not, to be fair, suggesting that there is a need to provide people with a convenient place for suicide.

IT HAS BEEN four years since Lerer's last campaign, but another will be launched in a meeting of the district's security committee at 10:30 a.m. Thursday in the administration building at the toll booth plaza. Dr. Seiden will testify, as will Dr. Edwin Shneidman, chief of the National Institute of Mental Health's Center for Studies of Suicide Prevention. Dr. Shneidman will fly here from Washington, D.C., at no expense to the bridge district.

A program to prevent suicide is "both workable and feasible," says Dr. Seiden.

As of this writing, 337 persons are known to have jumped to their death from the bridge, according to the California Highway Patrol. Another 120 are thought to have jumped, but their deaths were not confirmed. Three have survived.

Total: 460 persons.

A SENATOR'S NOTEBOOK

U.N. Fails Its Promise, Has Not Kept Peace

By EVERETT McKINLEY DIRKSEN

After nearly a quarter century of effort to make the United Nations work for the good of all mankind, it is time to take stock, to consider in all frankness just where the UN has gone.

Vietnam is, of course, the United Nations' greatest failure. Here was an opportunity, as never presented before, to keep the promise made in the preamble to the UN charter — " . . . to save succeeding generations from the scourge of war . . .' Yet we are in the midst of a terrible war. Look at what has gone before.

I was in Lebanon in 1945 when the call came for an assembly in San Francisco of nations of the world in the interests of creating a lasting peace. The assembly, the call told us, would be known as the United Nations.

After weeks of discussion in San Francisco, the job was done and the charter was signed and then ratified. And the language of the charter — its meaning — stirred the peoples of the earth.

SINCE THEN, things we never imagined have happened throughout the world. Berlin was blockaded, there was a war in Korea, there have been three wars in the Middle East. There is the war in Vietnam. The UN is still there. It is still a world organization, bigger and more representative of nations than ever. But look what has happened to it.

The late Arthur Vandenberg, who was a delegate to San Francisco, said at the time that the UN could be made to work if both the United States and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics undertook to make it work.

The answer 23 years later is that the UN has succeeded as a peacekeeping power only on issues where the U.S. and Russia were more or less in agreement. In those cases where the U.S. and the USSR did not see eye to eye, the UN has proved to be less than effective.

THE U.S. SUPREME Court has been riding herd on the issue of one man, one vote, but nothing like that appears within the UN, where a country with, comparatively, a handful of people has a voice equal to the voice of the United States with more than 200 million people.

The U.S. pays about 32 per cent of the cost of keeping the UN in business. What about India and the Soviet Union? Why don't they pay a proportionate share?

And look what has happened to take the promise out of that glorious language of the UN charter: Some of the voices in the UN contend that it has no authority to intervene in Vietnam. Yet, Article One of the charter says — "The purposes of the United Nations are, (1) To maintain international peace . . . and to take effective collective measures for the prevention and removal of threats to the peace . . ."

As we contemplate the sad plight of the crew of the Pueblo, still in North Korean hands, the war in Vietnam and the resurgence of hostilities in the Middle East, we have to ask ourselves the question:

What has happened to the United Nations?

It has not kept the peace.

Bouquets And Brickbats

BOUQUETS to the residents of Marin City. Across the nation, reaction to the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in many predominantly black communities was one of blind hatred and violence. But in Marin City, it was deep grief mingled with determination that King must not have died in vain. The dignity of the mourning was not marred by the sniper's bullet or the arsonist's torch. The people of Marin City stand taller today because of this.

BRICKBATS to almost everyone concerned in the College of Marin president-second campus furore. A more unfortunate example of lack of trust coupled with lack of communication all around would be difficult to find.

BOUQUET to the Oakland Athletics on bringing American League baseball to the Bay Area in the new and beautiful Oakland-Alameda County Stadium. But BRICKBATS to the stadium owners for utter failure to provide for orderly handling of the thousands of autos of game-goers, even after a whole season's experience with football crowds.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

BIGGER MINUTES FOR YOUTH

Do teenagers have it easier today than previous generations? Not according to Dr. Melvin Heller.

"They have it harder," says the Temple University professor, "because the challenge is greater."

One challenge he noted was overcoming "prolonged dependence — economic, familial and societal."

This dependence, he explained, results from "greater educational requirements, both academic and technical, in order to embark on a successful career."

Dr. Heller advises parents to avoid the danger of over-protecting their children.

"Narrow escapes are part of the stuff of which life and growth are made," he added. "I suppose the only adult who never had a narrow escape during adolescence is the adult who never tried anything."

Parents are confronted with the dilemma of "too much" or "too little" in caring for teenagers.

There are no easy answers, so parents need support in their divinely appointed task of forming mature, responsible adults for tomorrow's challenges.

Lord, let my sympathetic interest in the concerns of parents lead to constructive action in their behalf.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A VERY UGLY GIRL was sitting alone at the beach when the waves washed a bottle to her feet. She opened it—and out blew a huge Genie in a billow of smoke. "I've been a prisoner in this bottle for 5,000 years," cried the Genie, "and now you've freed me! As a reward, I will fulfill any wish you make." Ecstatic, the ugly girl announced, "I want a figure like Sophia Loren, a face like Elizabeth Taylor, and legs like Ginger Rogers." The Genie looked her over carefully, then sighed, "Baby, just put me back in the bottle!"

Chemicals Fight Cancer — But Why?

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Medical science may well find a cure for cancer before it ever fully understands the disease.

While laboratories around the world perform endless sophisticated experiments designed to reveal why some body cells go mad and create malignancies, medical men in hospitals try what treatments they can devise for actual victims.

Of their three main weapons — surgery, radiation and drugs — the drugs seem to be making the most progress.

NEW DISCOVERIES

Several new chemical agents were reported at this week's meeting of the American Association for Cancer Research in Atlantic City.

Researchers from the National Cancer Institute at Bethesda, Md., and the Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center of New York City report good results from Ara-C, or cytosine arabinoside.

A Sloan-Kettering research team, headed by Dr. T. S. Gee, used Ara-C in combination with 6-thioguanine, Both drugs were effective against acute leukemia, cancer of the blood-forming organs.

DOSAGE CHANGES

Dr. Edward S. Henderson and his co-workers report that a new method of administering Ara-C has caused the temporary disappearance of all evidence of the disease in 19 of 40 patients with acute myelocytic leukemia — a type of leukemia against which little progress has previously been made.

Earlier methods had involved lower doses or rapid injection of Ara-C, but significantly greater effect was found when greater intravenous doses were given for four hours a day for four consecutive days, then repeated at one-week intervals. Each infusion was preceded by a priming dose one-sixth as large as the main dose, Dr. Henderson says.

LESS DAMAGE

"The average duration of complete remission," Dr. Henderson reports, "was estimated to be at least three months. Although some other drugs had achieved similar lengths of remission, Ara-C did not produce as serious damage to the bone marrow."

An updated report on the use of L-asparaginase at Sloan-Kettering revealed that 13 of 24 children suffering from acute lymphoblastic leukemia had favorable responses. The longest remission was 34 weeks when the drug was given by intravenous injection in three different dose schedules.

Side effects have been few, Drs. Lisa Tallal and Herbert Oettgen say and "when compared to those of the commonly used therapeutic atents are relatively mild."

L-asparaginase is an enzyme, which because it is not available in large quantities, could not be given in large doses. Studies in mice, however, have shown that the amount of the drug required to achieve permanent cure of transplanted leukemia, is much larger than the amount needed for temporary remission.

The defect in certain cancer cells that causes them to die when exposed to L-asparaginase was described by Dr. Bernard Horowitz, head of a Sloan-Kettering team.

Previous studies had shown that the enzyme breaks down the amino acid called L-asparagine, which seems to be essential to their growth. These sensitive cancer cells must acquire asparagine from an external source such as the blood. When the enzyme, asparaginase, is introduced into the patient, it destroys the asparagine needed by the cancer cells and they die.

Since normal cells can make their own asparagine, they are not harmed by the introduction of asparaginase. The lack of asparagine synthetase by certain cancer cells, which makes these cells dependent on an external source of asparagine, is the first clearly defined qualitative biochemical difference found betwen normal cells and cancer cells.

Assembly Clerk's Job Is More Than A Glorified Bookkeeper

SACRAMENTO (AP) — At first glance, you might think of Assembly chief clerk Jim Driscoll as a glorified bookkeeper. But he has other duties besides keeping the Assembly's voluminous files and for these he needs the skill of a master diplomat.

The duties of his $24,000-a-year post are unique among the nation's 50 legislatures. He doubles as the Assembly's parliamentarian. And that is where he must utilize every ounce of diplomacy available to him.

Although the 36-year-old clerk is a registered Democrat, he maintains strict neutrality when controversial issues and politically touchy points of order are debated on the Assembly floor.

MUCH EDUCATION

Driscoll holds a master's degree in government from Claremont Graduate School as well as a law degree from the McGeorge School of Law. He has been trained to weigh issues and admittedly forms an opinion on many of them.

"I have plenty of opinions on bills, but no matter how you feel about a bill, you have to apply the rules the same way. The man I rule against will never forget a parliamentary ruling. I would have no justification if someone found me to be prejudiced," Driscoll said in an interview.

Driscoll, chief clerk since 1963, well-versed in the plentiful rules of the house, but on tough questions, he too, has to leaf through the rule book to find the answer.

Often, assemblymen will become so bogged down in the quagmire of parlimentary procedure and technique, they throw up their hands and turn to Driscoll to find a way out.

DECISIONS TOUGH

Some of Driscoll's toughest decisions are made off the Assemby floor. This happens occasional when a legilator, plotting a possible partisan power play, asks Driscoll to give them advance word on how he might rule on various parlimentary tactics.

"Once a legislator asked me what parliamentary procedure he could follow to get a measure through the Assembly. I told him that he could ask the Assembly to agree to the measure by unanimous consent.

"A little later, a fellow who was opposed to the bill came into my office. He asked me what he should do if the other guy asked for unanimous consent. I told him that under the rules he was entitled to withhold unanimous consent.

JIM DRISCOLL
Parlimentary mentor

"Later, on the floor, what you would expect happened. The fellow asked for permission by unanimous consent to take up the measure out of order. The other fellow refused to assent to the request. The measure had to be deferred until its appointed time."

Driscoll could have told the first assemblyman that an opponent could block him by withholding unanimous consent.

"But, I've made it a rule never to volunteer advice. If I'm asked a question, I'll answer it, but my answer won't go beyond the question," Driscoll said.

"It's just a matter of self-preservation. I'm supposed to be non-partisan. If I were to volunteer advice, some one could accuse me of being a parliamentary strategist for the other side."

Spain Ponders Big Question: Who Will Take Franco's Spot

MADRID (UPI)—When Alfonso XIII, Spain's last king, fled the nation for his life 37 years ago this month he lamented sadly, "We are out of fashion."

Now, in the waning years of the 30-year-old regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco, there are many who wonder if the idea of another Spanish king is as obsolete as Alfonso thought when he went into exile April 14, 1931, as republican mobs besieged his palace.

Franco, who rose to power in the bitter three-year civil war which buried the republic, is now 75 years old. And though his health is reported still good he is increasingly showing his age.

PERSONAL RULE

Franco's rule has been highly personal. Through his absolute command of the nation's politics he has become the one unifying force in this historically turbulent country.

As the day approaches when the aging "Caudillo" must either step down or die in office, there is growing concern about how the nation can be kept united after this authoritarian symbol disappeares from the Spanish scene.

There is simply no other Spaniard presently in a position to fill Franco's role.

Thus the idea of another king, as a unifying institution, is considered a strong possibility.

The leading candidate for the throne is Don Juan de Borbon y Battenberg, Alfonso's son and legal heir. From his exile in Estoril, Portugal, Don Juan has been playing a careful political game to maneuver himself back to the throne. He is the choice of Spain's leading monarchist circles.

LIBERAL POLICIES

Don Juan, however, is suspected by some government aides of liberalism and of wanting a democratic parliamentary monarchy along modern European lines.

So the government—or those monarchists in it—favors 31-year-old Prince Juan Carlos, Don Juans' son, who has been personally tutored under the guidance of Franco.

The Mayflower carried two dogs along with the Pilgrims, says the National Geographic.

Filipinos Display Progress

By PATRICK J. KILLEN

MANILA (UPI)—Twenty-one years after independence from the United States, the Philippines is starting to show signs it may yet live up to its vast potential.

Problems abound and any enterprising reporter can find an abundance of western-style lawlessness and eastern-style corruption. Less evidence are some solid advances in agriculture and government operations which have changed some doubters into qualified believers during the past 12 years.

One thing is certain: Most Filipinos seem to expect the general economic situation to improve. Some businessmen exhibit cautious optimism.

HAS POTENTIAL

Few question that the Philippines archipelago, with its 7,000 islands and 33 million people, has the potential to be one of southeast Asia's standout nations.

The islands are rich. Gold, silver, lead, copper, manganese and chrome are mined and found in extensive supply. Vast mining areas have yet to be explored. The raw materials necessary to develop an integrated iron and steel industry are available are being developed.

Sugar, copra, logs and lumber, coconut oil, abaca or Manila hemp, copper concentrates, pineapples and plywood are principal exports, giving the Philippines more diversity than most developing lands.

POPULATION SOARS

Despite an annual population growth of 3.4 per cent, twice the U.S. rate and four times that of Japan, demographers contend the Philippines can support a much larger population. The nation's predominantly Catholic families seem determined to test the theory.

Today's Filipino tends to be strongly nationalistic, a nationalism influenced by 400 years of Spanish and American colonialism as well as by his Malay ancestry and his country's proximity to China and contacts with the Chinese. Possibly as a result of this blurred identity, Philippine nationalism often appears anti-American in nature.

Newcomers from the United States find many Filipinos do not love them, and are disconcerted to discover Americans being blamed for many of the country's problems.

CREDIT U.S.

The United States is credited with leaving the Philippines with the start of a vast education system, a public health program, a free, vigorous and wide swinging press and an incurable interest in politics.

The political enthusiasm is both a strength and a weakness.

Ferdinand Marcos, the dynamic 50-year-old sixth president of the Philippine Republic, hopes to become the first president to be reelected. He will get his chance in 1969.

The weakness of Philippine politics is that it pervades the atmosphere. Nearly everything is done in the name of politics, regardless of consequences and responsibility. One of the encouraging signs is that the Marcos government has embarked on some tax and land reform projects even though they alienate some wealthy campaign contributors.

MANY PROBLEMS

Politics aside, the Philippines has a flock of problems.

Vast wealth lives hard by vast poverty. The last census showed that more than half the Philippine families had a yearly income of less than $257 per year while affluent Filipinos live in some of the finest houses in Asia.

Law and order is at a low ebb in the Philippine cities. The Philippine News Service reported 364 persons were shot, boloed or clubbed to death during the first two months of 1968.

Petty corruption is widespread. A bribe will fix a police ticket, reduce a customs assessment, procure an unwarranted insurance policy.

The national growth rate is lagging behind most other Asian countries and foreign investors have turned to other nations where they are more welcome.

Improvement in agriculture and particularly the anticipated shift this year from a rice deficit to a rice surplus nation is the major signpost indicating better things are coming.

"Miracle rice" and President Marcos both get high marks for a leap forward. Marcos made increased production one of the cornerstones of his program of "rice, roads and schools."

HELP PRODUCTION

Improved irrigation and feeder roads are credited with helping production along with an upswing in the use of fertilizers and more modern growing methods.

"Miracle Rice," or IR-8, was developed by the International Rice Institute at Las Banos, about 40 miles south of Manila.

The seedlings, when properly cultivated, greatly accelerate yields but that is only half the story. IR-8 produces rice on sturdy stalks which so far have been able to withstand the onslaught of the Philippines' annual typhoons and tropical storms.

The governmental rice and corn administration, which used to spend $60 million annually on importing rice, has announced plans to export 30,000 metric tons of rice in 1968.

SIGN OF THE TIMES — Looming over the beggars, vendors and shoppers in downtown Manila is a modern bank building, one of dozens of new structures that reflect progress in the two decades of the Philippine Islands independence from United States rule. (UPI Telephoto)

This Week In The World

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Eighteen days after President Johnson halted the bombing of most of North Vietnam in an effort to initiate peace talks, Secretary of State Dean Rusk told the world the administration's patience was wearing thin because Hanoi kept rejecting Washington-proposed contact sites.

Rusk named 10 new locations that would be agreeable to the United States and said he wanted a "prompt" answer from North Vietnam. Five earlier sites have been rejected by Hanoi.

As Rusk spoke in Washington, Johnson returned to his Texas ranch after a three-day meeting in Hawaii at which he assured the leaders of friendly Asian nations that the United States is standing by its commitment to defend them.

Meantime, Hanoi was sticking by its two proposed sites for the peace contact—Phnom Penh, Cambodia and Warsaw—both rejected by Washington. The administration pointed out that Phnom Penh doesn't have adequate communications and Warsaw doesn't recognize the South Vietnamese government.

Around The World; Around The Clock:

Saigon: The pace of the Vietnam War picked up during the week with U.S. fighter planes mounting some of their heaviest attacks of the war on the area of North Vietnam still open for bombing.

Saigon: U.S. officials said the pacification program in South Vietnam was "back on the track" after North Vietnam's Lunar New Year offensive that cost the government control of 1.1 million people.

Panmunjom, Korea: Two American soldiers were killed and two wounded by North Korean troops who ambushed an Army truck in the U.S. Army sector near this village in the Demilitarized Zone.

Memphis, Tenn.: The strike by garbage collectors, most of them Negroes, that brought Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. to Memphis and to his death from an assassin's bullet was settled after two months.

Chicago: Mayor Richard J. Daley said Chicago police had been ordered to "shoot to kill" arsonists and "shoot to maim" looters. In Washington, Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark criticized the order, saying it could escalate "the problems we are intent on solving."

Washington: To reduce inflationary trends by tightening credit, the Federal Reserve Board raised the discount rate from 5 to 5.5 per cent, its highest level since the summer preceding the 1929 stock market crash when it went to 6 per cent.

Washington: Members of the Communications Workers of America (CWA) went on strike against the Bell Telephone System for higher wages. Chief delays were in calls where an operator's assistance was required.

West Berlin: Radical leftist students engaged in battles with the police as they attempted to block the circulation of papers from the publishing complex of Axel Springer, which they claim created a "climate of hate" that led to the shooting of a leftist leader. Two persons were killed, more than 100 injured and 500 arrested.

Moscow: Two unmanned Soviet spacecraft linked up in orbit on radio command transmitted from the ground and separated on command almost four hours later.

Parents Rule Out Schools Merger

Faced with overwhelming opposition from parents of children at one of the schools, a San Rafael principal this week abandoned plans to combine two schools and use a "non-graded" system.

Lawrence McArdell, who is principal of both Sun Valley and West End Schools, had proposed the change. The schools now house kindergarten through sixth graders. Under McArdell's plan, the kindergarten through third graders from both areas would have attended Sun Valley School with the fourth through sixth graders placed at West End.

'OPEN END' CLASSES

"Open end" classes would have been formed with youngsters placed in various sections according to their achievement level, according to McArdell. "Individualized instruction would have been possible" with this plan, he said.

Parents of children at Sun Valley School, where the nongraded system has been used partially this year, apparently agreed with McArdell. At a meeting earlier this month they supported the proposed change.

PUPILS PROTEST

At West End, however, not only parents but also children protested the proposal. Signs saying "Keep West End K-6" appread at school and a petition bearing 130 signatures of pupils opposing the change was presented to the principal.

"I think it was mainly an objection to busing of younger pupils to and from the West End area to Sun Valley that led parents to oppose the merger," McArdell said.

"People told me they had brought a house two blocks from the school so that their children could walk to school and they didn't want them bused," McArdell said.

'LET'S KEEP IT'

"Others said 'we've had a good school here; so let's keep it the same,'" he added.

Culmination of the opposition to the proposal came at a meeting Wednesday night attended by about 100 parents of West End pupils. After McArdell explained the proposed change, they voted about six to one in opposition.

Although he still feels his proposal would have provided a better education for the children involved, McArdell says "if the parents don't want it, that's it."

'KEG OF DYNAMITE'

Convicted San Quentin Killer Found Sane, Must Stand Trial

Leo Estrada Robles, 22-year-old San Quentin convict, is sane and able to stand trial on charges that he bludgeoned and stabbed to death a fellow inmate.

This was the ruling of a Marin Superior Court jury, which deliberated one and a half hours yesterday before finding the convicted killer legally sane.

THREE-DAY TRIAL

The verdict, brough by nine men and two women, closed a three-day trial which saw Robles depicted by his attorney as a man so dangerous that he must be chained and injected with mind soothing drugs to protect those around him.

"Mr. Robles is a man sitting on a keg of dynamite with the fuse lit 24 hours a day," said Deputy Public Defender Harold J. Truett.

The jury, though, was restricted during the sanity trial to two legal tests: Can Robles cooperate with his attorney and is he capable of understanding the nature and quality of the criminal proceedings.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner ordered that criminal proceedings aganst Robles be reinstituted and that he be brought to Superior Court Monday so that a date can be set for his jury trial.

Robles has pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity to charges that he killed a psychiatric ward inmate by slashing his throat with a razor and beating him over the head with heavy weights.

SPECIFIC CHARGES

He is accused of murder and assault by a life prisoner on another inmate, both death penalty offenses.

Robles entered prison in 1966, when convicted and sentenced to life in prison for the hanging death of his Santa Clara County cellmate.

At the time, he was in jail awaiting trial for slowly inserting a knife into the stomach of a hitchhiker he had picked up in Santa Clara County.

Strongarm Bandit Gets Purse, $60

A San Francisco woman was wrestled to the sidewalk by a bandit who stole her purse near the Marin City underpass Wednesday night, sheriff's deputies said yesterday.

Michele J. Lewis, 21, told deputies that a Negro man grabbed her purse as she walked along the sidewalk. When she refused to let go, she was dragged to the cement.

Her legs and knees were scraped before she released the purse and watched the bandit run off with $60 and her credit cards.

Novato To Hold Police Exams In Los Angeles

The City of Novato will conduct a written examination for police officers next Saturday in Los Angeles, according to Police Chief Robert de Grazia.

The city has advertised to fill three vacancies on its force. It has 16 applications from the Los Angeles area of which 12 are experienced policemen, the chief said.

Officer Ronald C. Shanaker of the Novato police force, who used to work in Southern California, did some recruiting on his recent vacation Di Grazia said.

Shanaker and Harold A. Messenger, deputy finance officer, will leave next Friday, taking a Novato patrol car and brochures on Novato, the chief said.

Court's Death Timing Decision Means Fortune

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Because their mother lived 10 minutes longer than her second second husband after an auto crash, two small boys will be sharing a $1.75 million inheritance.

That was the opinion of the State Court of Appeal Thursday, affirming a finding of the Contra Costa County Superior Court.

The boys are Clinton Chalmers, 9, and his brother, Bruce, 7. Their mother, Mrs. Patricia Schmidt, 33, and her husband, Max, 56, a wealthy Danville real estate man, died in December 1964 in a highway collision.

Schmidt's three grown children claimed they both died at the same time and that Mrs. Schmidt did not inherit any of the estimated $5.25 million estate.

But the appeal court declared that there was sufficient evidence to support the trial court's conclusion that Patricia died after Max.

Schmidt's son and two daughters will share $3.5 million. They are Robert M. Schmidt of Hollywood, Mrs. Beverly Schmidt McCarthy of Hillsborough and Mrs. Geraldine Cohn of Piedmont.

Jail, Probation Set For Drunken Driving

Creighton Grant Thompson, 52, of 231 Elm Avenue, Mill Valley, was sentenced to seven days in jail and placed on probation for two years in Marin Municipal Court yesterday for drunken driving March 16 on Miller Avenue in Mill Valley.

Judge Peter Allen Smith originally sentenced him to 45 days in jail, but suspended that sentence.

Coin Collecting—A Fascinating Hobby

See Page M2

Old Coins Have Spot At Antique Show

This thought occurred to Mrs. Edward Simons, general chairman of the Marin County Antiques Show and Sale which will open a four-day run at the IDESST Hall, 511 Caledonia Street, Sausalito, Thursday.

As a result, the show will have for the first time an exhibit of rare and antique coins.

MRS. SIMONS, a coin collector, felt that a coin dealer should be represented among the 26 antique dealers who will participate in the show and she enlisted the aid of Mr. and Mrs. Ovid A. McHorse, proprietors of Mack's Rare Coins, Town and Country Village, Strawberry.

McHorse known to friends and customers as "Mack," got into the coin business in a unique fashion.

When he was a lad of 16 in Los Angeles, a coin dealer gave him a penny folder for Lincoln pennies, circa 1909 to 1940 and told him that if he filled the folder he would give him $50 for it.

TO A 16-year-old, $50 was a small fortune and the job looked easy. As he started filling the folder, McHorse found the job was not as easy as anticipated. He couldn't locate a number of the pennies so he purchased them at shops in the area.

ONE NIGHT he went to a theater, pocketed his change and didn't check it until he reached home. Out of that pocket came his first discovery, a 1909 SVDB, a San Francisco Mint penny with the designer's initials V.D.B. imprinted on the reverse side of the coin.

At the time the coin was worth only $15, but for a "first," it was exciting ot McHorse. Today it is worth $135.

McHorse returned to his home state of Texas in 1953 and on his first date with the girl he later married, he looked through her change purse to see if it had some interesting coins.

WHEN HE considered going into business for himself in 1963, McHorse looked toward his coin collection. His idea then was to sell it for a down payment on some business venture.

On appraisal he learned it was most valuable, so rather than sell it he decided to open his own coin shop and make his hobby his business.

At the persuasion of his twin brother, Olin, McHorse moved to Marin and opened his shop at the Town and Country Shopping Center in December 1965.

His enthusiasm as a hobbyist has not dimmed with his entry into business, and the collector in McHorse often comes to the fore when he spots a youngster peering through the shop window at the coins.

"THERE doesn't seem to be any age too young to begin," he said. "I had a five-year-old in here a few weeks ago, full of information and lots of questions. He's quite a collector; just think what he'll have when he's my age . . . the Rockefeller of the coin world, perhaps."

In coin collecting, there's always a find around the next corner . . . in the next change from the grocery store or even in grandmother's attic.

SEVERAL weeks ago a woman came into McHorse's coin shop with 860 tiny silver coins, no larger than a quarter of an inch apiece in a small plastic container.

One side of the coin had a lion wearing a crown while the other showed three joined volcanos.

They were Guatemalan coins, "one quarter reals," which had been left to the woman by her great-grandfather and she remembered playing with them as a child.

McHorse gave her $86 for the lot and his wife, Lucille, felt the coins would make attractive jewelry.

McHorse plans to exhibit a complete set of U. S. gold type set coins at the antiques show. This set includes a gold Liberty Head, a St. Gaudens and Indian Heads of each denomination in metal gold.

Mrs. Simmons, the show's general chairman, became a coin collector while pursuing the hobby of stamp collecting.

While looking through a trunk for stamps on her mother's "old love letters," she didn't find any stamps she needed, but found instead a large stack of unfamiliar currency.

At McHorse's shop there is "fractional currency," the bills used in 1863 when there was a coin shortage and coins had to be made of paper.

Few areas in Northern California possess the natural enchantment of Marin County and one of the choice areas in Marin is the rolling terrain, encircled by trees, which overlooks the Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club in San Rafael.

When Perma-Bilt, a division of the Boise-Cascade Corporation, planned a new development there, Peacock Crest, it was "faced with a challenging opportunity," said Don Dormer, regional manager.

The challenge was to "create a community of new homes in an area of remarkable beauty," he said. "We decided to supply custom-home thinking to community planning."

With this objective the firm selected the firms of Development Coordinators and Charney and Shaw Associates as architects.

To dramatize the new homes the firm commissioned Tony Pereira Interiors, and appointed Linesch and Reynolds, the firm that conceived the landscaping for Disneyland, to the Peacock Crest project.

"Once we selected the team," said Dormer, "we gave them a free hand."

There are vaulted or cathedral ceilings for spaciousness and kitchens with a pass-through serving bar, a laundry room in the home and slumpstone or brick fireplaces.

Babcock Endowment—A Friend In Need

Grants Aid Those With Mounting Medical Costs

BY DON KEOWN

It is called the William Babcock Memorial Endowment, and many Marinites who might ultimately some day be its beneficiaries are not even aware of its existence.

It began with assets appraised in 1954 at one and nine-tenth million dollars. Thirteen years later, after expenditures and commitments of more than two million dollars, its endowment investment portfolio was appraised at three and three-tenths million dollars.

THE BABOCOK Memorial Endowment had through 1967 approved grants and loans of $950,980 to 1,011 applicants, individuals and families, to relieve them of intolerable medical burdens and indebtedness.

Of the total, $806,675 was distributed in grant form to 932 applicants. Assistance per household ranged from $50 to $6,500.

Another $1,056,103 has been allocated to 15 organizations which sought assistance from the endowment fund for medical service projects of direct value to Marinites.

Today, the emphasis is shifting from grants to families and individuals confronted with disastrous medical costs, since such cases have been to some extent alleviated by Medicare, health insurance policies and other programs, to grants to organizations and institutions.

BUT THE monies still stand available for the endowment's original purpose — to help those middle class Marinites who can qualify over medical cost hurdles that might otherwise have disastrous financial consequences for them.

And thanks to the sagacity and dedication of the men and women charged with responsibility for management of the fund, it is larger today than it was at its beginning.

JULIA BABCOCK
Start of it All

And just what was that beginning?

It had its start in the spring of 1943 when, one day, an elderly little San Rafael woman, Julia May Babcock, visited her attorneys.

SHE WAS desirous, she said, of setting up some kind of a memorial to her late husband, William Babcock. But her ideas were still vague and uncertain.

In the discussion that followed, a plan for an endowment to pay the medical bills of Marinites in need of such assistance began to take shape.

The outline was still sketchy, but whatever developed, it was agreed, it would carry the name of William Babcock Memorial.

She had been a Baltimore society belle who had first become acquainted with the Babcock family in the 1880s when she had accompanied her brother on a visit West. But then William Babcock was wed to Helena Redington of Sacramento and living in a honeymoon house presented to the couple by his father, William Fitzpatrick Babcock, import and shipping magnate.

After Julia May returned East, she too was married — to George Beck, a wealthy European. But Julia was widowed when barely 30.

A PERIOD of loneliness ensued, and to escape it, she decided on a trip around the world.

During a stop-off in Egypt, she met William Babcock for second time. He, too, was traveling to escape tragedy's after-effects.

His first wife had died, and then, a short time later, their 12-year-old son, William Jr., had been killed when thrown from a horse frightened by a Fourth of July firecracker.

ROMANCE followed their meeting in the land of the Sphinx, and was followed by a wedding in the New London, Conn., home of Julia's brother.

William Babcock, then 43, brought his 35-year-old bride back to his 50-acre San Rafael showplace estate known as Edgehill in 1895, and the pair settled down to a pleasant and happy existence. Their comfortable life at Edgehill was interrupted only for the travels which both enjoyed so dearly. And from those travels came antiques, art treasures and rare garden plantings that made Edgehill more than ever one of the great mansions of the West.

How would you like to live in a beautiful apartment overlooking the bay in Marin County and never have to worry about losing it or paying a major medical bill for the rest of your life?

If you are 62 or older, you are eligible to apply for the new revolutionary, non-profit Life-Care program developed by Retirement Residence, Inc. at The Tamalpais in Marin County overlooking the bay at Greenbrae.

The underlying concept of Life-Care at The Tamalpais enables the retired person to continue living in a gracious manner without the worry of economic and emotional problems created by unexpected illness, loneliness and financial reversals.

For example, if a resident of The Tamalpais, after paying the entrance fee, were to lose his source of income through economic disaster he could still go on living there with all the attendant benefits for the rest of his life.

From the broad experience of Retirement Residence, Inc., in similar projects throughout California*, it has been proved that the Life-Care program appeals most to retired professional and business people and their widows—people who have led interesting, well-rounded lives and appreciate cultivated companions and surroundings.

In addition to gracious apartment living in an exclusive, scenic bayside community less than a 30-minute drive from the heart of San Francisco, The Tamalpais includes:

MEDICAL PLAN A far-reaching medical plan including almost all physician's, surgeon's and hospitalization costs as well as nursing, convalescence and rehabilitation care. Extensive medical facilities also exist on the premises.

APARTMENT Sparkling new apartments in a variety of floor plans—each of them designed with you in mind—include carpets, draperies and a custom-built kitchenette. In addition, housekeeping service is provided and linens and towels are furnished.

MEALS Three meals are served daily in a handsome dining room. Not only is food dietetically balanced, but there is also a selective menu for each meal.

LEISURE FACILITIES Charmingly decorated lounges and parlors in which to entertain friends and relatives...an activity center for theater, lectures and group recreation...a large library...and arts and crafts areas are among the diverse leisure-time facilities available.

SECURITY AND SERVICE Help is always as close as the flip of a switch or a phone call to the switchboard. In addition, there will be regularly scheduled round-trip transportation to San Francisco at least twice a week.

COMPANIONSHIP You can enjoy the friendship of compatible persons whose retirement goals are similar to yours. And in the event of illness, there's always someone to visit and assist you.

COSTS The Life-Care program at The Tamalpais is available to qualified persons at prices starting from $14,800 plus a modest monthly maintenance fee.

For additional information, please call or send in the coupon. No salesman will call—unless requested by you. # Tamalpais To Pump $3 Million Into Local Area Over Next Year

Construction activity at The Tamalpais, new $10 million Life-Care center rising at Greenbrae, will pump some $3 million in pay roll, alone into the Marin County economy in the next year, it has been reported by James C. Frush, president of Retirement Residence, Inc., of San Francisco, developer-administrator of the project.

The project will contribute several hundreds of thousands of additional dollars to the county economy through the purchase of building materials which can be acquired locally, Frush said.

The unusual T-shaped, 12-story structure, designed by Benson Eschenbach, AIA, is slated for completion in late 1968.

To date, some $500,000 has been spent on payroll during construction. By June, more than 200 persons — including subcontractors — will be employed at the site, and payrolls will range between $50,000-$60,000 per week, Frush said.

When completed, The Tamalpais will be operated by a non-profit corporation headed by Byron W. Leydecker, president of Redwood National Bank.

Located on the crest of a six-acre wooded knoll below Mount Tamalpais, the facility will include a 55-bed convalescent hospital, a large dining room, overlooking the bay, which can accommodate some 400 persons, a 300-seat auditorium, lounges and numerous recreational amenities.

Residents will be 62 years or older, who will be admitted on the basis of an entrance fee and a monthly maintenance charge, Fruch explained.

"The Life-Care plan at The Tamalpais," he said "will entitle residents to an attractive apartment, three meals daily, weekly maid service, hospitalization and virtually all medical and physicians' fees for the rest of their lives — even if they should lose their source of income."

It was also noted that great emphasis is being placed on the social compatibility of residents. About 75 per cent of those who have already subscribed for an apartment at the center are retired business executives and college faculty members and/or their widows, Frush said.

One of the nation's largest Life-Care management firms, San Francisco-based RRI has two similar developments in Northern California — Canterbury Woods in Pacific Grove and St. Paul's Towers in Oakland — Calaroga Terrace in Portland, Ore., and serves as consultant to other retirement facilities throughout the nation.

a holiday in Coronado, was struck down suddenly by pneumonia and died at 66.

Again, Julia resorted to travel as a means of consoling herself in her grief. Then, upon her return to Marin, she decided to sell Edgehill which was tied too closely to her memories of the happy past that was no more. The sale was made to Dominican College, and the mansion has since served as a home for college girls.

JULIA BABCOCK made plans to move East, but she found herself unable to leave her beloved California. Instead she bought a new home in San Rafael, this one known as Villa Julia. There she lived quietly. In 1946 she was seriously injured in a fall. A year later, on the road to recovery, she suffered a stroke.

She lay for seven years at Villa Julia in a coma, attended by servants who had been with her for many years and who loved her dearly.

In 1954 on Feb. 22, she died.

FRIENDS described the philanthropist as "a kind, generous and shy" woman who inspired loyalty in her staff and in all who knew her. She was a woman, too, of wit and cultured tastes, who loved fine art and good books. A patrician, she felt a strong sense of responsibility to the less fortunate and often supported charitable causes.

Her will of April 8, 1943, named the late A. Crawford Greene of Ross and John W. Parker of Berkeley as the executors of her estate and trustees of residuary funds after other specific bequests had been met that were to make up the endowment.

The purpose of the endowment, it outlined as follows: "... the charitable relief and treatment of those inhabitants of Marin County, Calif., who are sick and infirm and in need of medical or surgical assistance and hospital services, or any thereof, without regard to race or religion."

THE TRUSTEES were authorized to expend both principal and income from the fund with "complete discretion in determining objects and methods of accomplishing general charitable purposes stated above; complete discretion in converting trust to a charitable corporation."

Final distribution of the residuary estate as the endowment was made to the trustees in December of 1954.

Greene and Parker proceeded to consult with experts and to seek the assistance of the Stanford Research Institute for a survey to determine how the Babcock Memorial Endowment could best serve the needs of the inhabitants of Marin.

Since then there have been additional studies by outside experts in 1958, 1962, 1963, 1965 and 1967 to keep endowment services and programs up to date and in step with changing medical services and needs.

THOSE INITIAL studies indicated that the medical needs of low income families in Marin were being adequately cared for by existing agencies and programs. But there was a gap in the ranks of the middle class "white collar" workers. These people could meet the moderate costs of maintaining their health. But they were frequently overwhelmed financially when major illness or injury struck them or their families.

Marin County's superior court approved the trustees' program in May of 1956.

The endowment office opened at 1703 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, where it is still located today, in October of 1956. Named administrator and still serving in that capacity was Ann Hosmer McCorry.

Miss McCorry brought to the post graduate degrees in public administration and medical care administration, and 15 years of varied experience in personnel, mental health clinic, welfare, research, retirement and consumer programs.

UNTIL 1960, the endowment fund operated as a trust with responsibility invested in the trustees named by Mrs. Babcock and approved by the court.

Working with the trustees was an advisory committee of three Marinites — Dr. Matthew Hazeltine of Kentfield, Harris Kirk of Ross and Doris Schmiedell of Ross.

In this organizational form, the fund began serving its purposes of providing grants and interest-free loans to middle class Marinites who otherwise would have been plunged into deep debt by heavy medical expenditures.

In 1959, the trustees and their advisers took a new step as they authorized the first project grant — $500,000 for an addition to Marin General Hospital to be known as the William Babcock Memorial Wing, and $25,000 for the purchase of X-ray, operating room and patient room equipment for the use of patients at San Rafael General Hospital.

IN NOVEMBER of 1959 a petition of the trustees for the formation of a non-profit corporation received superior court approval.

The organizing meeting of the board of directors of the corporation was held in March of 1960.

Making up the first board were A. Crawford Greene as president; William A. Marcus, later to become president; Louis W. Niggeman, now president; Virginia Livermore, John W. Parker and Doris Schmiedell.

Today the board includes, in addition to its president, Niggeman, a Kentfield resident and insurance company president, the following members:

William W. Schwarzer of Mill Valley, attorney and board vice president; Mrs. Katharine Kirk of Ross, housewife, second vice president; Fred F. Enemark of San Rafael, savings and loan association executive, secretary; A. Crawford Greene Jr. of Ross, attorney, treasurer; Rex Silvernale of San Rafael, Hutchinson Co. vice president; and Drs. Russell R. Klein of Larkspur and Catherine C. Pike of Ross.

Mrs. Schmiedell resigned from the board earlier this year after eight years of service.

WORKING WITH Miss McCorry in the endowment office is Lucille Kavanaugh as secretary.

Scudder, Stevens & Clark Inc. is the endowment fund's investment counselor, McCutcheon, Brown, Doyle & Enerson the legal adviser, Price Waterhouse & Co. the auditor, Joseph R. Davidson, the accountant, and Wells Fargo Bank, the trust department servicer.

The present directors see the role of the Babcock Memorial Endowment as that of "a financial catalyst and advocate of expansion and coordination of health care practices and facilities that reduce infirmity and handicapping conditions among residents of the county."

THROUGH this role, and a continuation of the original practice of granting financial aid to Marinites beset by overwhelming health care costs, the endowment corporation believes it is fulfilling its objectives.

The officers point out that the Babcock endowment is unusual among such charitable foundations in several respects;

Its assets of $3,300,000 make it a relatively modest endowment in this age of giant foundations.

It operates with a minimal staff — the full-time administrator and the secretary.

Individuals seeking assistance from the fund are first interviewed by Miss McCorry. Eventually, the directors will rule upon their eligibility.

OF EACH 100 such applicants, 13 are denied assistance because they do not meet the corporation's requirements for financial distress. Of the 87 offered aid, 74 will be in the form of outright grants and 13 as no-interest laons.

Through 1967, the directors had considered 1,194 such applications from 992 households, and approved 1,011 of them for grants and loans totalling $950,980.

In 1967, the conditions most often precipitating such applications were cancer, stroke, neuroses, obstetrical complications and premature babies, neurological handicaps, orthodenture needs, and accumulated debt from a whole series of illnesses.

Persons of all ages are assisted. The most frequent applicants are families with ill or handicapped children, single persons, and couples too young for Medicare.

For them, the Babcock fund has offered a way to relieve themselves of medical expense burdens that otherwise would have plunged them into welfare status and cost them their economic independence.

THERE WAS, for instance, the day 2-year-old Joey awoke with a tummy ache. He was admitted to the hospital twice in four days, the second time with a ruptured appendix. His parents had three other children, and were already in trouble. Now they faced a charge for Joey's care that was $900 in excess of their health insurance coverage — approximately one-eighth of their annual income.

The William Babcock Memorial Endowment picked up those bills, so that Joey's family could fight their way back to financial stability.

Miss McCorry notes that leukemia and other forms of cancer are especially heart-rending when they occur among children, and that the care required is very costly. The endowment, she adds, has aided a number of these troubled families.

WHEN obstetrical complications or premature births triple or even quadruple the costs of a normal birth, the Babcock foundation has stepped in.

There was the couple with two children who had saved financially for the birth of their third. Complications occurred. The baby was delivered prematurely by Caesarian section, and had to be kept in the hospital 30 days after the mother's discharge. The costs in excess of those of a normal birth were $1,500. By making that payment, the endowment permitted the hard-pressed parents to continue to meet the needs of a family of five.

A couple under 65 and thus not eligible for Medicare or Medi-

THE WILLIAM BABCOCK MEMORIAL WING at Marin General Hospital resulted from a $500,000 grant from the endowment, which also granted $25,000 to the former San Rafael General Hospital for equipment. The grants marked a new step in the endowment's history in 1959 when trustees approved project grants.

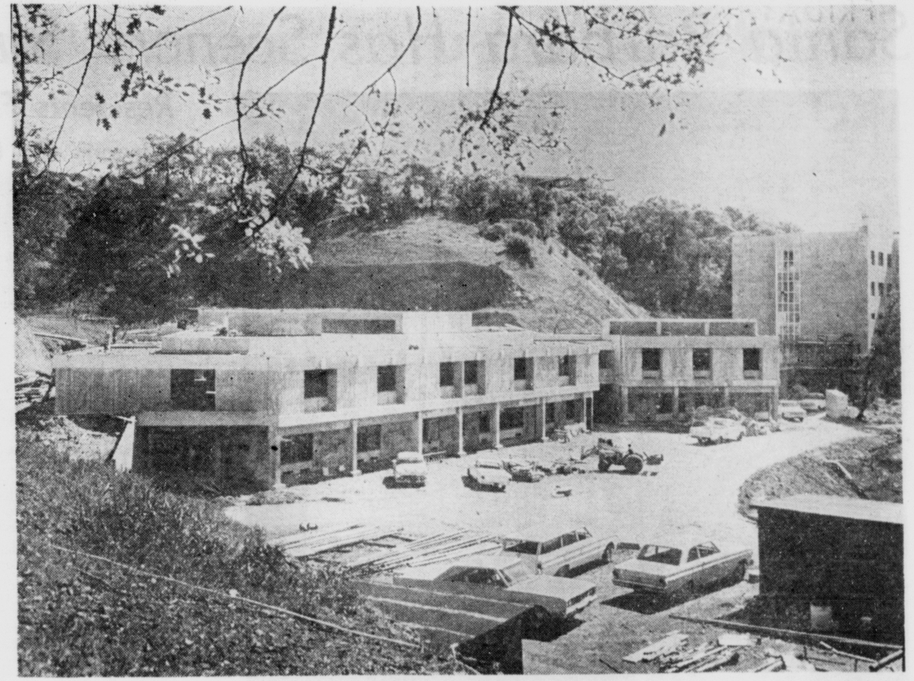
THE COLLEGE OF MARIN'S two-year registered nurse training program is one of the educational programs supported by the endowment, which also has aided health surveys and coordinated seminar meetings for students.



THE COMMUNITY MENTAL HEALTH CENTER nearing completion at Marin General Hospital has received support from the Babcock Memorial Endowment as has the psychiatric center at Ross General Hospital and the Sunny Hills treatment center for teen-agers with behavioral problems in San Anselmo.

Cal assistance were the proprietors of a small business. The wife fell and broke her hip. They soon discovered their outdated health insurance was inadequate. Hospital costs averaged $80 a day; the policy paid a maximum of $23 and excluded physiotherapy. But the Babcock endowment permitted them to pay the hospital bills while conserving the modest assets they had been accumulating toward retirement.

There was the 72-year-old widow, anxious about a hearing loss and plagued by dentures that did not fit, who received a hearing aid and new dentures, thanks to the foresight of another widow, Julia Babcock.

AND THERE was the disabled woman who had been left totally bald by a devastating illness. The wig she had owned and worn for many years was thin and fuzzy. Public programs could not provide her with a new one. But the Babcock endowment delighted her with one, and in so doing met a most pressing human and social need.

She chose, incidentally, to become a redhead.

A 79-year-old resident of a nursing home had exhausted his Medicare benefits there. To qualify for Medi-Cal, he would first have had to reduce the investments that were providing him with his sustaining income. This, too, would have jeopardized the future of his wife, should she survive him.

The endowment is now paying part of the costs of the man's nursing home care, with a provision for possible repayment from any estate surviving both husband and wife.

THE ADVENT of Medicare and Medi-Cal have reduced the demand upon the endowment for hospitalization, although those programs have not eliminated such calls. There are still those ineligible by age or for other reasons for the public programs. There are many needs, urgent ones, that lie outside the scope of Medicare and Medi-Cal. There are times when the public benefits are exhausted or prove inadequate.

But Medicare and Medi-Cal have permitted the endowment and its directors to make some shifts in their emphasis.

For instance, the family assistance program has been extended.

AN EXAMPLE is orthodonture work, or the academic therapy financed at the DeWitt Reading Clinic in San Rafael for children failing in school because regular teaching methods are not attuned to their modes of perception. Some 40 children have received this lift up from school failure to school success and new self-esteem, thanks to Babcock monies.

The Babcock Memorial Endowment carries on an active counseling service, too, making use of Miss McCorry's professional background and experience. Some 2,600 families have received this help. Physicians, attorneys, institutions and public and private agencies often request counsel in guiding their patients and clients.

Medicare and Medi-Cal rules and the increased use of automated procedures in billings and insurance carriers' payments have increased the demand for counseling on such matters as eligibility for the various medical care programs available to Marinites.

But the major shift in emphasis is toward expenditures to organizations and institutions for authorized projects.

THROUGH 1967, the endowment had allocated $1,056,103 for such programs. The expectation is that there will be a growing need for this kind of contribution toward the health security of Marinites.

A breakdown of these grants shows:

Five organizations in the child guidance diagnostic and treatment services and facilities field to have received $192,320; five in the services and equipment for the chronically ill and handicapped field, $83,680; two mental health agencies, $121,720; two programs for the expansion of health personnel training and opportunities, $30,420; two general hospitals for facilities, land, buildings and equipment, $627,963.

TYPICAL of the endowment's activities in the project field is its underwriting of the developmental program at the Marin Child Development Center in Tiburon, a diagnostic and treatment center for nursery school-age children suffering neurological and emotional handicaps.

A supporting grant was awarded The Child Center, a multidisciplinary diagnostic service with a special interest in devising new teaching methods for emotionally and physically distressed children.

Speech therapists in the Novato Unified School District working with kindergarten children with speech defects are receiving Babcock support as they seek to come up with more effective and earlier treatment methods. Therapists in other Marin schools will share their findings.

IN THE treatment field for psychiatric illnesses and handicapping emotional conditions, the Babcock Memorial Endowment has spent $122,000 to support services at Ross General Hospital's psychiatric clinic and toward the construction of the new Community Mental Health Center now nearly completed at Marin General Hospital.

To help Marinites suffering from chronic illnesses and long-term handicapping conditions, Babcock grants have gone to the establishment of Marin Home Care Inc., a community home care agency, to buy diagnostic equipment and provide care for hard-of-hearing and deaf persons, and to make summer camp respite programs available to retarded children and their families.

THE ENDOWMENT has also supported educational programs such as the two-year registered nurse training course at College of Marin which will graduate its second class in June.

The Babcock organization, too, has backed financially special surveys in the health and medical field including the Hamilton Associates' study of the county's hospital facility and service needs.

It has coordinated seminar meetings for university students referred by graduate schools of public health and medicine.

It made a $2,500 grant for Easter Seal Society personnel staff.

THE PROGRAM, then, that Julia Babcock left behind as a memorial to her husband has reached into and bettered the lives of thousands of Marinites, and is continuing to do so — both those who approach it directly for assistance when confronted by overwhelming health costs and the specter of deep indebtedness, and those who benefit from the institutions and programs it has supported and from the general community welfare that has resulted from its work.

Louis W. Niggeman, president of the Babcock board of directors, attributes much of the success of the endorsement program as an "adaptive element" in Marin since its founding to the late A. Crawford Greene.

"Mr. Greene, as personal advisor to Mrs. Babcock and as trustee of her memorial to her husband, displayed rare insight into the needs of the less fortunate, and an uncommon ability to move people to public service," Niggeman says.

"His inspiring dedication in carrying out the memorial's ideals established a tradition that everyone associated with the endowment strives to maintain."

NIGGEMAN says that the role of the endowment has changed since 1959, adding new breadth and scope to its activities. The memorial program, however, remains a source of grants and loans to those confronted by intolerable financial burdens resulting from sickness and infirmity.

"However," Niggeman adds, "as tax-supported programs have brought traditional medical and hospital care services within the range of more and more people, the endowment has been able to apply its resources to new endeavors that benefit all Marin County residents."

The Babcock Memorial Endowment is particularly proud of such projects as the Babcock wing at Marin General Hospital, the Marin Home Care Inc. program it created, and the new Community Mental Health Center soon to be functioning, he says.

Niggeman assures the public that the men and women in charge of the endowment are looking toward the future even as they carry out their present responsibilities and activities.

"FROM TIME to time, the directors engage outside consultants for their expertise and objectivity to help in formulating programs for newly-emerging health care needs and tions of the modern-day competitive project proposals," he says.

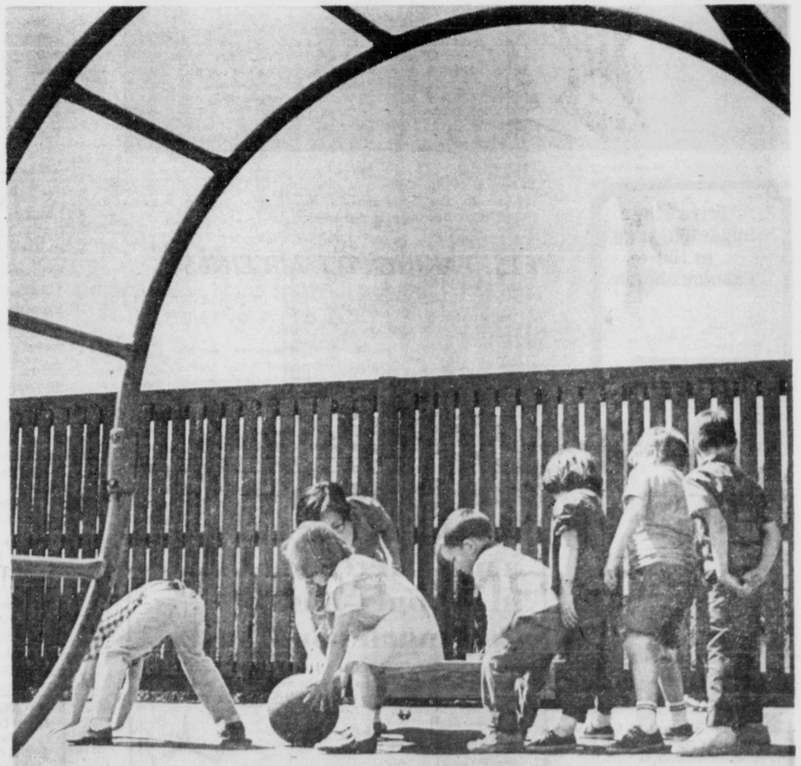
He cites, as an example, the team from the Stanford University Medical School brought in last year to counsel the directors on the endowment's opportunities for service in relation to the latest medical care, and the earlier survey, the cost of which was shared with Marin General Hospital, on the role and functions of the modern day community hospital, made by an independent hospital consulting firm.

Such continuing evaluations and reassessments will continue, the endowment president says.

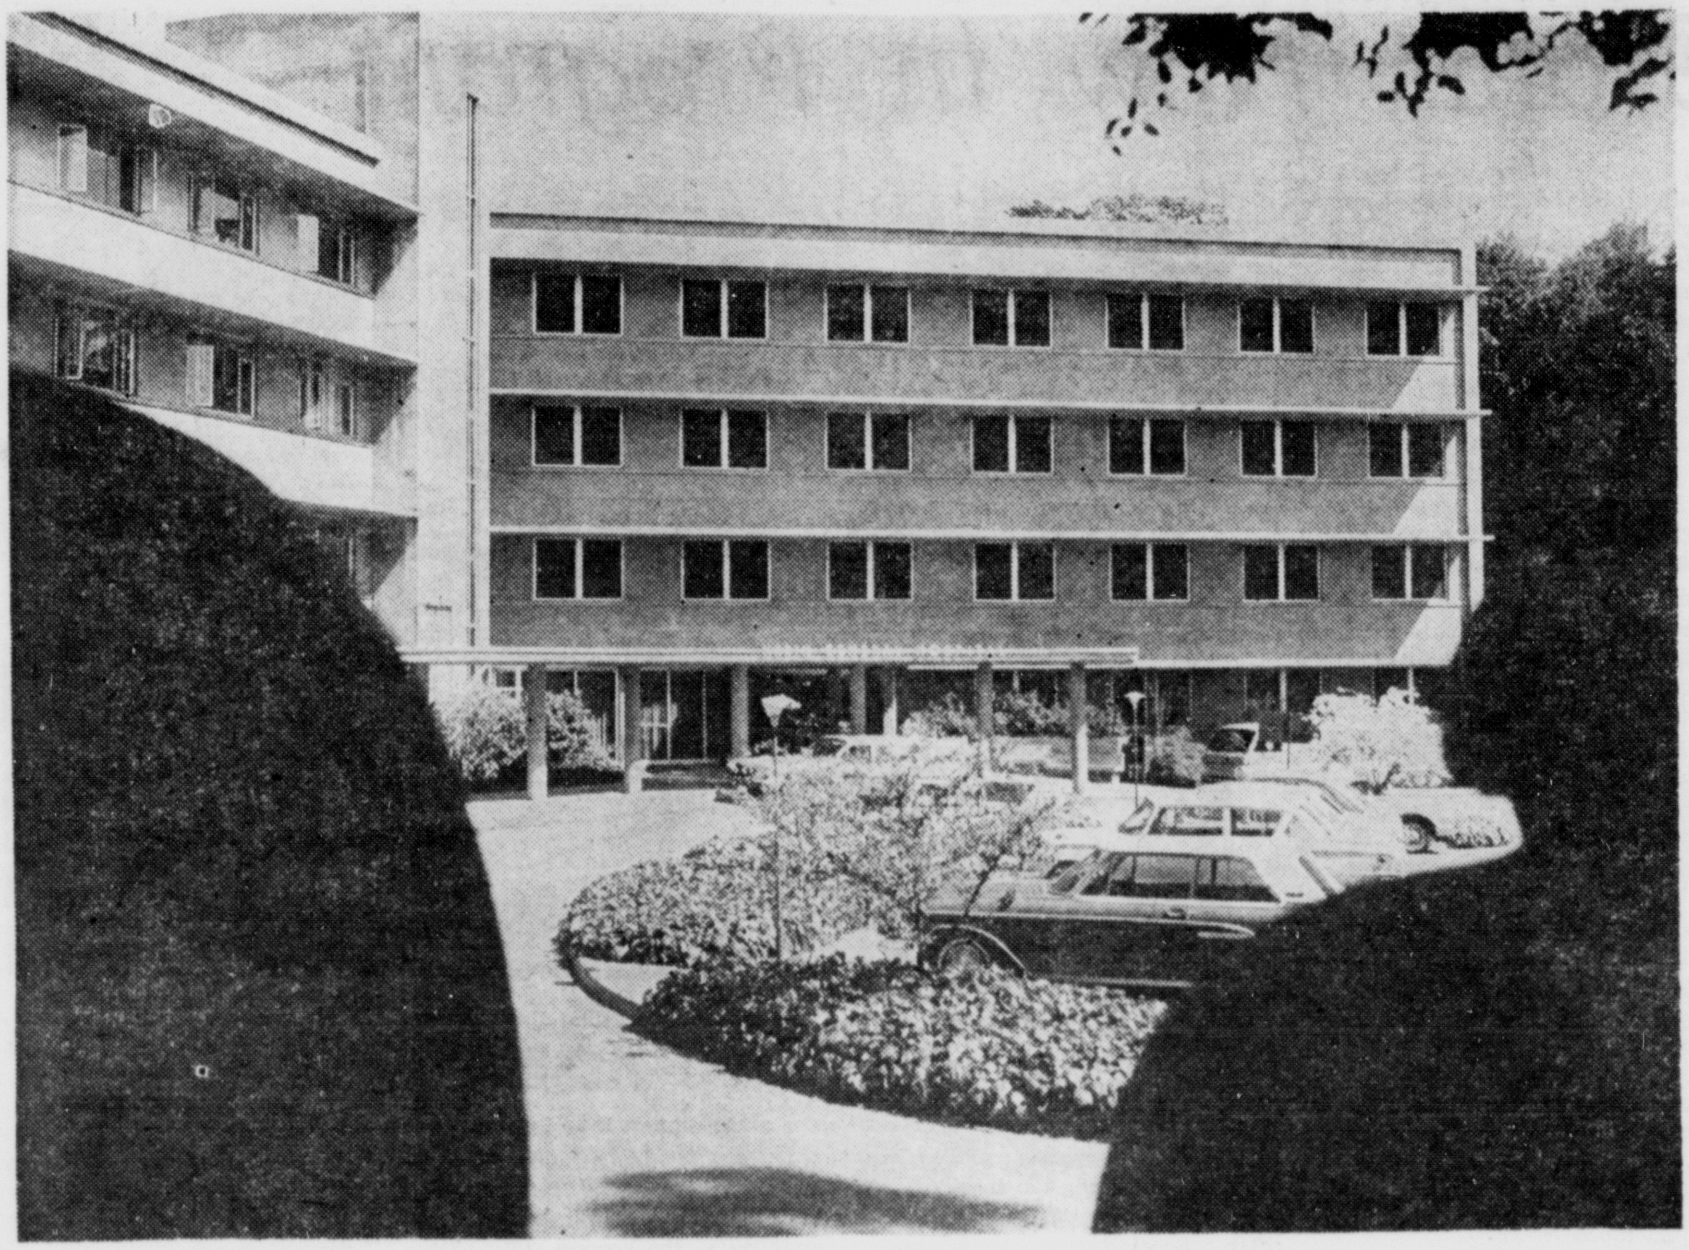
And finally, he promises: "We are especially mindful of the need to coordinate the efforts of all community groups who can join together to render aid and comfort to our fellow citizens in time of need."

All this, he says, is part of the William Babcock Memorial Endowment's role in Marin County as a catalyst for the development of constantly improving medical and hospital services for its residents of all incomes.

Julia Babcock, he is confident, would have approved.



PLAYTIME AT THE Child Development Center in Tiburon finds the teacher, Mrs. Janet Daijogo and pupils, framed by arching playground equipment, in a frisky game of ball. The diagnostic and treatment center for nursery school age children suffering neurological and emotional handicaps is supported by the endowment.



THE WILLIAM BABCOCK MEMORIAL WING at Marin General Hospital resulted from a $500,000 grant from the endowment, which also granted $25,000 to the former San Rafael General Hospital for equipment. The grants marked a new step in the endowment's history in 1959 when trustees approved project grants.

HERB ALPERT, starring in his second hour-long special, takes his Tijuana Brass on a musical romp through a variety of locations, including a musical instrument factory. "The Beat of the Brass" will be telecast Monday at 9 p.m. on Channels 5 and 10.

On The Stereo Scene

By JOHN SUNIER

THE GLORY OF GABRIELI — Music for Multiple Choirs, Brass and Organ — E. Power Biggs, organ/Gregg Smith Singers/Texas Boys Choir of Ft. Worth/Edward Tarr Brass Ensemble/Vittorio Negri, conductor — Columbia MS 7071:

This LP is the result of a long-planned project to record the music of the 16th century Venitian master in the very cathedral for which it was originally written — St. Mark's in Venice.

Gabrieli's music made use of the fantastic acoustics of the awe-inspiring interior of the church by placing the various vocal and instrumental choirs in galleries or balconies separated by as much as sixty feet for astounding echo effects.

The various movements from masses and motets and interspersed with organ "intonations" or solos by Biggs. While musically the performances are excellent, the sound is rather muddied, and on the peaks of full choruses and instruments, noticeably distorted.

However, the stereo effects are very exciting and it would be impossible to purchase a mono version of this disc to try for less distortion since no mono version was issued. Perhaps prerecorded tape is the only answer for distortion-free sound, providing Columbia releases this album on tape.

MONTEVERDI: Vespers of 1610 — Robert Craft conductiing The Gregg Smith Singers, The Texas Boys Choir, The Columbia Baroque Ensemble — Columbia M2S 763:

This magnificent album features pictures of St. Mark's on the cover, as does the above release, and also uses some of the same performers. However, its clean and crisp stereo reproduction shows that it probably was not also recorded in the venerable cathedral. The cover description of this as one of music's towering masterpieces is very apt. Not written for performance in its entirety at an actual service, the strict portions of the vespers service are enlivened by much more secular choral pieces, two of them even using juicy excerpts from The Song of Solomon as their texts. There is great variety in the vocal portions, and the instrumental support is sizeable, with much brass in the style of Gabrieli. This easily deserves a place on the shelf right beside such similarly exciting large pseudo-liturgical choral creations as the Verdi and Berlioz Requiems.

NIELSEN: Concerto for Flute and Orchestra; Concerto for Clarinet and Orchestra — Julius Baker, flute/Stanley Drucker, clarinet/New York Bernstein — Columbia MS 7028:

The Nielsen recording push goes on apace. This is a first for the often humorous and inventive Flute Concerto. Nielsen's writing for the woodwinds is one of his major good points, and any flutist would be proud to solo in this work. Mr. Drucker has the edge on Benny Goodman (on Victor) in the Danish composer's work for clarinet and orchestra. One of Nielsen's last major works, it has an unsettling mood and some difficult passages for the solo instrument.

COPLAND: Third Symphony — New York Philharmonic/Leonard Bernstein — Columbia MS 6954:

Composed in 1946, this symphony — overflowing with the sound of the American prairie — is one of Copland's most important works. It is also the source of the popular "Fanfare for the Common Man." Debts to Mahler and even Shostakovich will be discerned in the symphony by the musically aware listener. Dorati's smashing performance on a mono Mercury disc was the one to own for many years, but Bernstein hereby replaces that older performance with his up-to-date sonic fireworks.

Another first recording in the Copland, plus a first in stereo for the Bernstein Serenade. Copland was asked to write the Organ Symphony for his composition teacher Nadia Boulanger early in his career when he hadn't even heard any of this own orchestrations as yet. Nevertheless he created well-balanced and original large-scale work in which the organ is treated as a part of the orchestra rather than as a solo instrument. The Bernstein piece has long been for this writer the most enjoyable work of serious music from his pen. It is based on Plato's "Symposium," with the five movements named after some of the characters in the dialogue. The use of percussion is most original and often jazzy. There are some beautiful violin passages, and the dance by the drunken Alcibiades in the final movement is a somewhat anachronistic bit of Greek jazz.

"FROM TIME to time, the directors engage outside consultants for their expertise and objectivity to help in formulating programs for newly-emerging health care needs and tions of the modern-day competitive project proposals," he says.

He cites, as an example, the team from the Stanford University Medical School brought in last year to counsel the directors on the endowment's opportunities for service in relation to the latest medical care, and the earlier survey, the cost of which was shared with Marin General Hospital, on the role and functions of the modern day community hospital, made by an independent hospital consulting firm.

Such continuing evaluations and reassessments will continue, the endowment president says.

And finally, he promises: "We are especially mindful of the need to coordinate the efforts of all community groups who can join together to render aid and comfort to our fellow citizens in time of need."

All this, he says, is part of the William Babcock Memorial Endowment's role in Marin County as a catalyst for the development of constantly improving medical and hospital services for its residents of all incomes.

Julia Babcock, he is confident, would have approved.

Santa Barbara Has Scenery, Surf

Residents Fight To Keep Charm Of Old California

The Travel Pages

Her beauty alone places Santa Barbara among the top California cities in attracting tourists.

Why, even back in 1820, men traveled from far and wide to reach this site so blessed by nature's gift of lavish scenery, this site reputed as well to have the prettiest and most graceful women in all California.

So it was for years until disaster struck. The big earthquake of 1925! It gripped Santa Barbara, according to the National Automobile Club, and destroyed a number of priceless Spanish-Moorish buildings.

BUT THE citizens united in the attempt to rebuild their city even more beautiful than ever.

Beauty alone, however, fails to describe "The City of Grace" adequately. She has charm too. You'll see it in the rustic buildings, the untouched countryside. You'll see it in the customs, the leisurely behavior of the citizens.

When it comes to commercialism, though, the citizens fiercely resist, wanting their city to retain the charm of old California. And indeed Santa Barbara does.

Near the waterfront lies the oldest part of the city, a part extending for four blocks. On one block you'll run across an interesting example of the historical homes. Called Casa de la Guerra, it's a fine structure with all the traditional trimmings from its U-shape to its relaxing patio and garden.

ALONG THE way, too, stand El Cuartel of the Guard's House, one of the oldest buildings, dating from about 1782. Now a state historical monument, it's open to the public.

With a lovely setting and equable climate, Santa Barbara has become a year-round sports mecca, particularly along the ocean front with its beaches, picnic grounds and yacht harbor.

There are miles of scenic trails for horseback riders, and a public 18-hole golf course, covering 126 acres.

One of the attractions of the city is the largest Moreton Bay fig tree in the United States. It is about 60 feet tall, with a branch spread of 151 feet and a diameter of 8.7 feet.

PETS TAKING TO AIR LINES

Dogs may not have wings, but they can fly . . . for that matter so can cats, or even iguanas or jaguars.

National Airlines Cargo Manager, Claude Garcia, said more people are taking their animals along on vacations than ever before. "It's quite simple," he added, "the cost of a pet flying is much less than putting an animal in a kennel for two weeks.

There are very few rules connected with animal air-travel. The owner simply obtains a health certificate from a local veterinarian, provides a kennel and pays an excess baggage fee for the animal.

NOTES TO TRAVEL BY

The Japan National Tourist Organization recently reported that nearly half the foreign visitors to Japan last year were from the United States, 235,394 out of 476,753. During the same period, 76,210 Japanese visited the United States, moving Japan up to fourth place as a contributor to U. S. tourist volume.

Because of an increase in travel to the Philippine Islands, Philippine Air Lines has ordered two Douglas Super DC-8 Jetliners costing approximately $26 million, which can carry 251 passengers.

Olympic fans who plan to attend the 1968 summer games in Mexico still have a chance of obtaining air space and accommodations, according to Western Air Lines. Local travel agencies have information available on packaged tours which include housing accommodations and tickets to Olympic events.

British Overseas Airways Corporation has announced tours specifically for college students who want a holiday and academic credits as well. Four major routes are offered in conjunction with San Francisco State College, three oriental tours and one a world tour.

The Civil Aeronautics Board has approved merger of Bonanza Air Lines, Pacific Air Lines and West Coast Airlines into a new airline to be named Air West. The new airline serving the west will cover eight states, 100 cities and a population area of more than 28 million people.

Reduced fares for European residents visiting the United States have been announced by Pan American World Airways, subject to government approval, effective Monday. The system is designed to attract Europeans to the United States and assist in "balance of payments" program.

A Weekend Journey Through Sonoma

Marin residents can retrace the history of nearly four centuries under seven flags in the nearby southern Redwood Empire — in a leisurely weekend trip.

The first flag is the White Ensign of England whipped aloft in Marin in 1579 by Sir Francis Drake, when he claimed California for Queen Elizabeth I while refitting his "Golden Hinde" for the westward crossing.

AT LEAST that's what many competent historians believe. Their theories are bolstered by an engraved brass plate left by Drake and found three decades ago on the Point Reyes dunes. The spot generally accepted as his careenage is in the sweeping bight of Drake's Estero. The beach is gently sloping, and great for wading.

A short drive north is Bodega Bay, named for the Spanish explorer who claimed this coast for his King in 1775. Here are pleasant bay-view restaurants and a picturesque fishing fleet. Just north are fine beaches for shell collectors and rock-hounds at Sonoma Coast State Park.

The next "flag" to investigate is that of Russia. Yes, the czar's minions once ruled California's redwood coast from a bristling stockade at Fort Ross, 10 miles north of where the Russian River meets the Pacific. The fort is restored now, and little more than a half hour's drive north of Bodega Bay on twisting State Rt. 1. A distinctive Slavic chapel and rough-hewn museum dominate the scene. Admission is a quarter, with youngsters 18 or under free when accompanied by an adult.

A PLEASANT summer stop is in one of the resort towns that line the Russian River, to the south: Duncan's Mills, Monte Rio, Guerneville, or Rio Nido. There are fine restaurants and numerous motels; also a redwood forest to visit at Armstrong Grove. Here are majestic trees 2000 years old and 300 feet tall. Tasting rooms of hospitable Korbel Winery are just east of Rio Nido.

Next day's "flag stops" are in the eastern end of Sonoma County. Take State Highway 12 through Santa Rosa and down the lovely Valley of the Moon. Stop at the estate of that ruggedly American novelist, Jack London, whose home is now a State Park in the gentle hills of Glen Ellen.

Driving down the Valley of the Moon, the goal is Sonoma. Here waved the banners of Mexico (both Empire and Republic) and the Bear Flag of the short-lived California Republic (1846) before the Stars-and-Stripes took over. Virtually all of Sonoma is an historic shrine, and State restorations are usually in progress. Visit the Mission (1823), last in the California chain of 21. Look in at the Blue Wing Inn across the street, the Spanish barracks, and the Vallejo family dwellings around the beautiful plaza.

JUST WEST of town is Lachryma Montis, "Tear of the Mountain," the charming chalet of Gen. Mariano Guadalupe Vallejo, Mexico's commandant of the frontier. It is a State museum. Three miles eastward is the state's first winery, Buena Vista, founded in 1857 by the Hungarian Agoston Haraszthy. Visitors are welcome here and at Samuele Sebastiani Winery, in Sonoma. The latter usually displays all seven flags at its entrance.

Foreign Language Maps

Maps in foreign languages of five major U.S. cities have been prepared by Pan American World Airways for free distribution by United States Travel Service offices, and Pan Am offices, overseas.

The Pan Am project, involving street maps of Chicago, Los Angeles, Miami, New York and San Francisco, is part of the airline's continuing contribution to the VISIT USA program.

The street maps are printed in five foreign languages — French, German, Italian, Japanese and Spanish — and English.

Surgeon Tells Of Prostate, Dispelling Old Wives' Tales

By DON KEOWN

LIFE AFTER FIFTY: THE PROSTATIC AGE by Dr. Henry M. Weyrauch, Ward Ritchie Press, 175 pages, $6.95.

STAY YOUNGER — LIVE LONGER by J. V. Cerney; Parker, 218 pages, no price listed.

After age 50, his chances of prostate difficulty are one in three. At 80, he has only a 50-50 chance of escaping its most prevalent and least understood malformation, the benign enlargement.

Despite its prevalence, prostate trouble has been the subject of very little written material aimed at the layman. It is, therefore, a field of much ignorance and misinformation.

To fill the void and correct misunderstandings, Dr. Henry M. Weyrauch, surgeon and chief of the Department of Urology at Presbyterian Hospital and Medical Center, San Francisco, has written "Life After Fifty: The Prostatic Age."

Generally, he fares very well, as he sweeps aside the myths that have grown up through the decades by explaining exactly what the prostate gland is and does, enumerating the various ailments to which it is subject and their consequences, and then detailing the approaches medicine and surgery have worked out for dealing with them.

"Belief that the prostate influences male sexual function is one of many old wives' tales that contribute to unnecessary fear," he says. The danger from a faulty prostate, and particularly a benign enlargement, is that it reduces and can shut off entirely the flow of urine from the bladder, causing uremic poisoning if corrective action is not taken.

While half the men who develop prostate trouble require surgery for relief, the operation, the doctor assures us, is far, far less dangerous than it was 50 years ago when only one of two patients survived. Now the mortality rate is less then 2 per cent.

In a "bonus chapter" Dr. Weyrauch discusses "sex after 50" with special attention to topics such as sex after surgery, hormone usage, causes of impotence and sterility, "the male menopause."

Despite the general value of Dr. Weyrauch's book, and that is considerable, we would quibble with a couple of its aspects.

He has been unable to resist the opportunity to throw in some standard American Medical Association philosophy concerning government interference with medicine and defending medical fees and health costs. It seems out of place in this book. If the doctor felt it necessary to so propagandize, he might well have reserved that material for another, separate book.

Finally, like most professionals, including newspapermen, engaged in direct dialogue with laymen, Dr. Weyrauch sometimes tends to patronize, over-simplify, "sugar-coat" the facts. For instance, that 2 per cent mortality rate from prostatic surgery will loom larger in the patient's mind than it seems to rate in Dr. Weyrauch's thinking. And a one-month period between surgery and return to full working capacity is a more major consideration for most wage-earners than Dr. Weyrauch's passing mention would seem to indicate.

Actually, on analysis, what Dr. Weyrauch has to say proves to be both informative and reassuring. But it is the former aspect that predominates.

HYPNOSIS IS no longer quite the controversial practice it once was.

But self-hypnosis is a very volatile subject, indeed.

There are those who deny its existence, labeling it is a delusion or the product of charlatans. And among those who accept it, there is yet another division. Some regard it as foolhardy and dangerous, or very limited as to use. Others advocate its use for the treatment of a wide diversity of physical and emotional illnesses and weaknesses.

Writer-lecturer J. V. Cerney is among those who endorse self-hypnosis. And the practice forms the basis for his book, "Stay Younger-Live Longer."

This is to be achieved, the subtitle tells you, "Through the Magic of Mental Self-Conditioning."

"Self-conditioning" proves a euphonism for "self-hypnosis" and related practices.

Cerney urges the technique as a means of attaining success, gaining self-control, retaining or regaining youth, defeating insomnia, releasing tensions, combating obesity, promoting longevity and avoiding a number of ailments.

Along with self-hypnosis, Cerney endorses most of the other practices advanced by the positive thinking-self improvement school of writing in which his publisher, Parker Publishing Co., a Prentice-Hall affiliate, specializes.

One realizes upon coming to the end of the book that Cerney has told you far more about the supposed wonderful benefits of "mental self-conditioning" through case histories and testimonials than he has about how to go about mobilizing and utilizing the force. Only occasionally does he get down to brass tacks and provide some actual instruction on self-hypnosis procedures. Those who regard the practice as potentially dangerous may think it just as well that there is minimal instruction.

Still, unquestionably, books of this kind are provocative and interesting.

Whether or not a trance-like state is necessary or even wise, there is undoubtedly a lot to be said for such attributes as concentration, self-confidence, self-control, etc., that form the real bases for most of these systems, no matter what fancy names their advocates give them. Cerney may well be pointing out a path toward better physical and emotional health — particularly the latter — even for those unable or unwilling to go the whole way into hypnosis.

THE WAR VIEWS of Dr. Benjamin Spock, author of the "Pocket Book of Baby and Child Care," one of the all-time best selling books, are contained in "Dr. Spock On Vietnam," an original paperback (75 cents).

Spock, who faces imprisonment for having counseled young men of draft age against serving in the war in Vietnam, writes of the direction of the war and offers his prognosis for the future.

Co-author is Mitchell Zimmerman, a graduate student from Princeton University, who worked on research for the book.

WRITER'S DIGEST, the national magazine for freelance writers, reported recently that more than 200,000 persons in the United States earn some extra money as freelance writers.

Their returns range from $5 for a verse of gag idea sold to a greeting card company to $2,750 for an article sold to "Reader's Digest."

A CARTOON BOOK that might spur readers to think up a few of their own is "Mom's The Word" by Howie Schneider, which portrays some of the world's noted people as children being quizzed, praised and chided by their mothers.

For example, as Alexander Graham Bell, suitcase in hand, bids farewell to his mother, she comments, "I don't care how you do it, Alexander, but you've got to promise you'll call."

The humor is zany and could provide a few laughs for "Mom" on Mother's Day. Schneider's cartoons were published by World Publishing Co.

Sleuths & Suspense

THE FOWLER FORMULA by Herbert Dalmas, Doubleday, 191 pages, $3.95. Reviewed by Don Keown.

Herbert Dalmas' second Crime Club mystery is a plodding, mediocre story that creates very little excitement or interest.

John Fowler, New England college professor, is framed for the murder of an industrialist who is also a major financial contributor to the school. Supposedly Fowler's theory or "formula" is supposed to figure in the solution to the case, but it is never very clear just what that theory is.

Dalmas' characters are a humdrum lot, and their behavior generally not believable. One example: A most unlikely and outrageous radio documentary that would almost certainly plunge any station into deep trouble with its listeners, the courts and the FCC.

Mexican Violence

HEROIC MEXICO by William Weber Johnson; Doubleday and Co., 425 pages, $6.95. Reviewed by Bryce W. Anderson.

Violence rides through most of the 425 pages of "Heroic Mexico," with tragedy at its side. But for all the death and double-dealing, William Weber Johnson's book is a hopeful chronicle of heroism.

Johnson, a former war correspondent now professor of journalism at University of California at Los Angeles, has put together the story of what he calls "the violent emergence of a modern nation" in a gripping chronicle. His knowledge of Mexican history in encyclopedic. He tells it in swift, violent prose to match its swift and violent heroes — and sometimes with tenderness to match the idealism so often submerged but never eradicated.

The book treats chiefly the period from the fall of longtime dictator Porfirio Diaz to the presidency of Lazaro Cardenas, who finally gave Mexico the government so many others had professed they would give it. Cardenas also put an end — or very nearly so — to the resort to arms for seizure of government which had marked Mexico since the uprising against Spain more than a century earlier.

That was a period of such constant fighting by revolutionary factions that the nation's population was reduced by perhaps a million. It was a time when one after another leader captured the popular fancy, overthrew the government, then became corrupt in his turn. And it was a time when many who might have become leaders died by the firing squad.

Madero, Villa, Zapata, Carranza, Obregon — all were heroes. And except for Madero, all were cutthroats when the need arose, and sometimes despoilers as well.

Mexico was a long time learning that government must follow its own laws to stay in power. It has not yet learned to sanction a multi-party political system: its elections are controlled by the government party. But it has come a long road, through much tragedy, since Fra Manuel Hidalgo y Costilla sounded the tocsin for freedom in 1810. And the story of its last years of revolution, as told in "Heroic Mexico," is a grand and highly readable story, bloody but far from meaningless.

WILLIAM WEBER JOHNSON is the author of "Heroic Mexico," a comprehensive history of the events and people who have made Mexico.

Dramatic Case Histories

First published in Britain in 1962, "Paid Servant" has just been released in the United States, following E. R. Braithwaite's success with "To Sir, With Love." In this volume, Braithwaite recounts his experiences as a Welfare Officer with London County's Department of Child Welfare.

Even in that educated circle, unacknowledged prejudice existed. Braithwaite soon discovered that he was expected to deal primarily with cases involving non-white children on the false assumption that his own black skin would be a passport to instant understanding of all dark-skinned peoples and their problems. As Braithwaite frequently noted, in a case referred to by his colleagues as "one of your people," "the person was either Asian or African, often in language and custom far removed from my own Caribbean background."

The success which Braithwaite enjoyed in resolving many difficult cases might be better attributed to his attitude toward his professional duties and the people he aided. As a paid public servant, he defined his role quite literally: to serve the people's needs — irrespective of color, religion or other arbitrary barrier.

". . . I very deliberately placed myself in the position of servant, instead of insisting on being the 'officer,' the extension of Departmental authority. . . . I was quickly learning that persons in trouble . . . react favourably to a courteous, helpful and really sympathetic approach which respects their dignity while seeking to serve them."

Braithwaite's concern and respect for the individual led him to fault another prevailing tenet — that the welfare officer should maintain an attitude of personal and emotional detachment. Yet it appears that precisely because a feeling of self-commitment characterized his business relationships, his clients responded to and were confident of his efforts on their behalf. Too often his colleagues' approach would be undermined by their automatic, unjust categorization of case problems into groups wherein the sole common denominator was color. All non-whites were somehow stigmatized in their minds, draining their enthusiasm and optimism for the successful conclusion of a case before proceedings with the persons involved were actually begun.

The case histories which Braithwaite presents to illustrate his life as a social worker are human dramas, vibrating on every emotional level and colored from the sordid to the beautiful. Because the stage is reality, their impact on us is intensified. Why should a child evaluated as "handsome, intelligent, happy" be more difficult to place for fostering or adoption if he is of mixed racial parentage rather than all-white? Why should the description of a mother's compromising background be used to discredit a child's future — but only if that child is non-white? Why should bureaucratic departmental red tape be allowed to delay and perhaps even totally prevent a family from opening its arms to ac hild it has already learned to love and wishes to welcome permanently?

At this time of racial turbulence and bigotry, when blacks and whites are dividing into racist camps — one no more justified than the other — the efforts of Braithwaite to dispel such fanaticism by regarding all human beings with equal dignity are tremendously heartening. The publication of his book in America, I would like assume, is Braithwaite's reaffirmation in 1968 of the hope he felt for humankind in 1962.

Cold Details Of World War II

A SHORT HISTORY OF WORLD WAR II, 1939-1945, by Brigadier Peter Young, D.S.O., M.C., 447 pages, Apollo Editions, $2.95. Reviewed by Gary Tischler.

It seems difficult to be dispassionate about anything as awesome as World War II, but I suppose a former general could do it.

Brigadier Young manages it in this thick paperback book that somehow seems short.

It is an encyclopedic effort for the armchair strategist, filled with maps, chapter timetables, military matchups comparing strengths, numerical differences, etc.

On that level, this compact history is an almost amazingly thorough job, managing to span all of the major theaters of war.

If it sometimes comes across as if this was primarily a history of how the British preserved and won the war, perhaps the author can be forgiven for his bias.

The chapters on the Russo-Finnish war, the campaigns in North Africa and the war on the oceans are exceptionally detailed and interesting since not as much has been written about them.

Like many military men writing about a subject that is intertwined heavily with politics, Young tends to be sketchy and a little hasty in his conclusions when entering the area outside the battlefield.

For example, in the first chapter on the road to war, he airily dismisses the partition of Czechoslovakia without mention of Munich, then throws in a tidbit that the Communists may very well have started the Reichtag Fire without backing up the statement. He also says that Dresden, which suffered around 130,000 dead in a triple British air raid in 1945, was a major center of vital industry, which it was not.

But these are minor difficulties in a book where the temptation to nitpick in between statistics is very great.

For a clear, precise picture of the purely military aspects of the war, the book is invaluable. For an idea of the horror of World War II, look elsewhere.

STEREO HI-FI

By C. J. Catania

NEW PRODUCT — Place up to 50 Stereo LP albums in the magazine, dial any one or more you want to hear, and the mechanism plays them for you. Yes, Seeburg has introduced computerized automation for the home music system. The compact record playing unit will allow you to dial one or 100 album sides, up to 40 hours of continuous music, from any room in the house.

The Seeburg stereo music center stores 50 stereo or monaural 12" LP records in a vertical position, and plays them vertically. Remote cueing positions stylus in record groove automatically. The vertical play mechanism is programmed by ferrite-core "Computer Memory Bank" that literally "remembers" a full capacity of 100 record sides. After a specific record side has been played it is erased from the "Memory Bank" and will not play again unless programmed. You program, or "write into" the Memory Bank by dialing a specific two-digit record selection number from your coded Program Selector Guide . . . as easy as dialing a telephone number. A Record Reject control rejects record that is playing. A Clear control erases all selection in "Memory Bank." An All-Play control programs all 100 record sides simultaneously.

Remote control stations can be incorporated with the Seeburg stereo music center. The remote stations consist of a small unit containing a telephone type dial. These remotes may be wired into any room of the house, the patio, the swimming pool, etc. Each remote allows the selection of records and the programming of the records. The Seeburg music center will accommodate up to 12 remote stations.

The pickup is a high quality Pickering magnetic type with two diamond stylii. The tone arm is a dynamically balanced type for low record wear. The turntable is a hysteresis synchronous motor with belt drive for very low wow and flutter.

The Seeburg music center is housed in a distinctive decorator cabinet, superbly crafted to blend harmoniously with every interior decor. It has sleek, simple styling and is in hand rubbed oiled walnut. The overall cabinet size is 33" long by 21½" high by 22½" deep. Come in for a demonstration.

Citrus Trees Play Role Providing Fruit And Beauty

Garden Page

Whether you plant them merely for ornamental beauty or for that occasional out-of-hand treat, citrus fruits will give you months of pleasure each garden year.

They thrive in California, and while some varieties fail to ripen completely in coastal gardens, they at least are colorful additions to the landscape.

And don't worry about your garden being too small to handle an orchard-sized tree. All the favorite citrus varieties are available in swarf form.

THESE DWARFS may be grown in tubs and often will ripen fruit where the standard orchard tree won't. This is partly due to the warmer soil conditions which tubbed trees enjoy and partly because you can tuck a tubbed orange, say, into a cozy pocket in the garden or on the deck, where it will enjoy added heat from the reflection off a house wall.

And don't make the mistake that some novice gardeners do of assuming that dwarf trees produce dwarf fruit. The fruit is standard size; only the tree framework is smaller.

You can imagine that such a combination can be as decorative as a Christmas tree with large ornaments.

ADDING to the decorative assets which citrus offer is the fact that their fruit colors up long before it is actually ripe, thus giving the gardener many months of color before he harvests the crop.

This asset is especially desireable with dwarf trees in tubs. What a colorful addition to any deck!

The dwarf Meyer Lemon was once the only dwarf citrus commonly found in C.A.N. nurseries. Today you have the whole family on dwarfing root stock. The gardener can choose from both navel and valencia oranges, from mandarins and limes, kumquats, lemons and grapefruit.

These need not be grown in tubs.

THEY CAN go right into the landscape just as any ornamental shrub. It's just that tubs and dwarf citrus have an affinity for each other. Any tub looks good with a citrus tree in it.

SPRING FLOWERS, such as tulips, daffodils and iris are suitable for arrangements that are long lasting if rules of care are followed.

Simple Rules To Preserve Bloom On Spring Flowers

Beautiful Spring flowers in an arrangement will last longer by following a few simple rules:

1. Select flowers — tulips, daffodils or iris — that are still tightly in bud. Allow them to open in your arrangement.

2. Assemble the materials you'll need: vase or bowl, sharp knife, pin holder or block of floral foam, floral clay or cellophane tape.

3. CUT EACH flower stem on a slant with sharp knife. This makes it easier for flowers to absorb water. If flowers are not to be arranged immediately, place them in a pail of water wrapped in florist or wax paper.

4. Anchor pin holder in dry container with floral clay. If floral foam is used, keep it in place by taping with cellophane tape to the side of the container.

5. When arranging, keep taller flowers in the rear; in centerpieces they should be in the middle of the arrangement. Use sprays of heather, forsythia or pussywillow to complement bulb flowers.

6. KEEP TULIPS, daffodils and iris in at least 3 inches of water. Fresh, lukewarm water should be added every two or three days.

7. Keep arrangement away from hot radiators and out of direct sunlight. Heat and sun speed up life cycle of flowers.

Easy To Grow Vines Lend Color

In the number and variety of vines from which he chooses, the California gardener has it much better than his counterpart in areas with colder winters.

So many of the most beautiful vines are tropicals and near-tropicals which won't stand freezing temperatures; and in mild California they thrive.

VINES PROVIDE both tracery and color for the walls and eaves of our houses, for the fence and pergola and, occasionally, for covering bare pieces of ground. They are easy to grow, simple to maintain and their harvest of beauty is unsurpassed in the horticultural world.

Perhaps the bougainvillea most typifies the wondrous color a vine can provide, and in California the bougainvillea is an adopted "native." We have grown and improved it for years, and the varieties offered by California Association of Nurserymen members today are far superior to any that arrived here with the mission fathers from Latin America.

BOUGAINVILLEA derives its color not from the flower which is inconspicuous but from a colorful bract that surrounds the flower. Today's sensational varieties include 'Texas Dawn,' bracts of which are pink, 'Crimson Jewel,' a glowing red, 'Jamaica White,' 'Orange King' and others, including favorite old red form, 'Barbara Karst.'

Not all of these are climbing types, either. 'Crimson Jewel' for instance, is a new bush-type sprawler, ideal for filling a bed or covering ground.

Another of our most popular vines is the Star Jasmine, which doubles as a high climber or a mounding ground cover.

TRUMPET VINES are also fabulous in their vigor and productiveness. Lavender, yellow and scarlet flowered varieties are available. The true jasmines are best in southern California, and the equally fragrant Giant Burmese Honeysuckle is probably best in the north.

CHECKLIST FOR MARIN GARDENERS

- Hedges are best trimmed to a slightly pyramidal form so that the lower portions can receive plenty of sunlight to encourage bushy green growth.
- April is still a big month for planting summer annuals from nursery flats. A wide selection is available.
- Plant tomatoes for summer harvest. Be sure the variety you plant is adapted to your local climate.
- Set out tuberous begonia seedlings from nursery flats or plant bands now. Give them plenty of leaf mold and filtered shade.
- Select rhododendrons this month while they are in bloom at nurseries.

(and that goes for slugs, too!)

SNAROL attracts and lures snails and slugs to their death. It's safer because it has no arsenic. More effective because it has metaldehyde. And no snail can stay away from metaldehyde.

Merit Badges For Handyman Would Boost Morale, Output

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Spring is the time to build the morale of your do-it-yourselfer. It would be an ideal time for a national holiday to honor the long-suffering home workman with parades and fanfare and "gone fishing" signs everywhere.

But in lieu of such prestigious acclaim, the next best thing might be a home merit badge. Awards are given for everything else, so why not for home carpentry?

IT'S TOUGH to work all weekend and when perspiration gets the better of you to be thanked only with, "Well, after all it's your house, and it's the only way we can afford to get the job done."

Ah-so — but, he needs something more tangible.

Keep a record of his hours and projects. Skip the gold star routine. Instead, award him a little prize occasionally. For example:

I FHE has built a shelf you've always wanted, consider the sum you've saved. Can you afford to invest a quarter or tenth of it for a little gift. A tie? Film for his movie camera? Fishing flies?

When he tries to rest from the project for a few hours, avoid those heckling remarks like: "Aren't you going to finish that today?", "I knew it was too good to be true," " I guess we'll wait another year before that's finished."

Instead, anticipate his work quotient and be the one to suggest that he knock off for awhile. If you must wait to have the project completed, you can be assured he'll come back sooner, with vigor and without rancor.

POINT UP the finished project to everyone who calls at your home. "My husband did that." Great. You'll notice he will not protest, even if he loses other husbands as friends.

Husbands are hams. They eat up all the flattering tidbits the family tosses their way. Everything accomplished by them around their homes is more or less expected of them, and it gets them down.

If he does a really big project — an addition to the house or room remodeling, give a party in his honor. They have "topping-off" parties for paid workers when the roof is put on a new house; parties are held in honor of architects, and parties are given by builders to launch their little and big developments.

WHY NOT a shindig for your very own architect-carpenter-builder husband? Name the room after him. This is "Mike, '68," the nursery is "Mike '64," and so on.

Be the first wife in your block to devise an emblem for her do-it-yourselfer. Big businesses have them. There's an emblem for wool, plywood, decorators. So — why not an emblem for your pride and joy?

It can be a big corny emblem that can be pinned on his jacket for home party occasions, or make a do-it-yourself badge or home service bars that can be put on his work clothes.

Your do-it-yourselfer, First Class might enjoy finding a merit bar on his work shirt — a few inches cut off a tape measure and sewed to the sleeve.

IF THE idea catches on in your neighborhood, it might be hard to keep up with stripes as husbands vie to tick off projects around the house.

"How Should My Pile Coat Be Stored?"

Not in a box, certainly, nor in a drawer or basket. Remember, pile coats, especially those with a deep pile, are fragile. Any pressure or crushing will cause permanent breaks or wrinkles. Once they have been badly wrinkled or the pile fabric has been broken up, there is nothing that can be done to restore it.

Some cleaners offer Box Storage for winter garments during the summer season. This is a fine, useful, economical service — but not for pile coats! When you receive your pile coat back from the cleaner make certain that you hang it, loosely, in a closet or other storage area. If it should be crushed against other garments for an entire summer, damage may result.

Remember, too, that pile coats tend to mat and tuft from wear. Your professional drycleaner may be able to lessen this condition, but he cannot correct it completely. Give your pile coat plenty of storage space and it will be bright and shiny next winter.

Handyman's Pages

UNTIL A FEW YEARS AGO, greenhouse gardening was considered a rich man's hobby, but now, with simplified, low cost methods of construction, many can afford to build a greenhouse. If it is built adjacent to a cellar door, basement or first floor window, no special heating unit is needed. An Easi-Bild pattern explaining how to build a greenhouse can be obtained by sending $1.50, cash, check or money order for Greenhouse Pattern 110 to Independent-Journal, Box 215 Briarcliff Manor, New York, 10510. While the pattern explains how to build a greenhouse measuring 8 by 9, any other size greenhouse can be constructed with the procedure outlined.

Tacking, Picking, Tipping Part Of Varnishing Job

For extra good results in applying varnish, you should know something about tacking, picking and tipping.

Tacking is the process of cleaning a surface with a sticky cloth preparatory to the application of the varnish. Picking is a simple method of removing specks of dust from wet varnish. And tipping is a smoothing-out operation.

SINCE dust is the big enemy of varnish, it is important that every bit of dust be removed from the surface before starting. This is done with a tack rag. It is a clean cloth sprinkled with turpentine and then moistened with varnish. Wrung out until it is nearly dry, it becomes sticky or tacky; hence the expression a tack rag. Wiping the surface with a tack rag should be done immediately before varnishing, not 10 or 15 minutes later.

An ordinary wooden toothpick is the only tool needed for picking. While varnishing, you may notice that a speck of dust has settled on a part of the surface you have just finished. If you lightly touch the end of the toothpick to the piece of dust, it will adhere. The moment you lift up the toothpick, with the dust on it, the wet varnish will close in on the disturbed spot and automatically smooth it out. Remember: this must be done while the varnish is still very wet.

TIPPING is done with the regular varnish brush. After the varnish has been applied with flowing strokes — first against the grain of the wood, then with it — the brush is drawn very lightly across the surface a third time, but with two differences. This third operation is done only with the tips of the bristles and only after excess varnish has been removed from the brush.

UNLIKE paint, varnish should not be shaken before using. Any disturbance of the contents will produce small bubbles which may show up on the surface of the material being finished.

Some persons warm varnish to make it flow more easily. Never do this over an open flame. The proper way is to place the entire can of varnish in a pan of moderately hot water just before using.

Spare Space Can Become Closet

While the building of a moth-resistant, cedar-lined storage closet is no job for a novice, any home handyman "conversant" with saw, hammer and nails can accomplish the job easily over several weekends.

Once you've decided to proceed, the first job is to select a location for the new closet. A survey of your home is sure to reveal waste space that can be enclosed, for example, in the attic, basement or garage. Once the space has been decided on, enclose it with 2" x 4" lumber on 16" centers.

IF A PART of the new closet includes existing plaster walls or ceilings, locate the studs behand them by driving experimental nails into the plaster. As the plaster will shortly be covered with cedar, don't worry about the holes.

Once your framing is up and studs located, start with an inside corner and lay the cedar lining horizontally. You'll only need one nail to affix individual cedar pieces to each stud and as the cedar pieces are tongue and grooved, each piece will firmly lock into its neighbor whether or not the joint falls on a stud.

DON'T WORRY at corners if you don't get a perfect fit as these small gaps can be covered up later with molding. Once you have finished the walls, cover the ceiling, floor and inside of the entry door in the same fashion.

When you hang the entry door apply weatherstripping around its frame to make the closet as nearly air-tight as possible.

Before installing shelves or hanger rods carefully consider the use to which the closet will be put. Plan their locations so as to utilize every bit of space.

IF THE closet's location calls for a finished exterior, cover it with hardboard panels, factory-finished in the wood grain, color or pattern of your choice.

Finally, don't paint, shellac or wax the cedar lining. Such finishes will seal cedar pores and reduce the aromatic, desired cedar aroma.
